ROBBER SLAIN, DETECTIVE IS WOUNDED IN HOLDUP FIGHT

David Murphy Killed and Officer Michael Quinliak Shot in Rooming House at 4553 Delmar.

DEAD MAN'S TWO COMPANIONS FLEE

Firing Starts When Three Rob Woman of Jewelry
While Police Were Hiding in Place.

A robber was shot and killed and officer Michael Quinliak was slightly wounded last night in a rooming house at 4553 Delmar where three detectives were hiding when three men entered the place and began to hold up the occupants.

and left elbow, one robber, David Murphy, 27 years old, escaped to a nearby garage where his body was found five hours later. Murphy, well known to police, was freed last year of a charge of shooting at a policeman.
Search is being made for his two companions, one of whom was wounded by the detectives as Earl Willing, 37, twice freed of murder charges.

Detective Michael J. Quinliak, shot in the right shoulder by Murphy, is recovering at city hospital. While pursuing the robbers, the detectives were fired on by unknown policemen.

Place Raided Several Times.
At 8:20 o'clock Quinliak, accompanied by Detective Sergeant James Peters and Detective Arthur Abbott, all attached to the Deer Street station, went to the rooming house conducted by Mrs. Evelyn O'Brien.
The place has been raided several times as a beer flat, they reported.

"We went there seeking information about a fugitive from justice and were talking to Mrs.
O'Brien in the hallway when the robbers rang," Teeter said. "Not being to be seen, and thinking the fugitive might be calling, we stepped into a bedroom concealed portieres.

"We afterward learned Murphy, Dowling and a third man had entered with drawn revolvers, taking the rings valued at $100 from Mrs. O'Brien and holding up three other women in the house.

AMERICAN IN ITALY KILLED IN FALL; WIFE DIES OF DRUGS

Mrs. L. G. Marty Jr., Kansas City, Takes Seditious After Accident

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 29.—
Jimmie G. Marty Jr., Kansas City, Mo., who died during the night from a fracture of the skull which he sustained when he fell down a flight of stairs in a hotel last night, and his wife, the former Dorothy
M. Easton, a native of New York, died this afternoon from a strong dose of sedative which she had taken because of grief over the death of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Marty celebrated Thanksgiving day at a dinner last night. Marty started for the hotel room a floor below, and fell the length of the stairs. Later Mrs.
Marty collapsed.

The Marty's leave two children now in Paris with their nurse, a girl 14 years old and a boy 2 years old. Marty's father, who has been residing on the continent, was notified of the accident and arrived just before the death of his daughter-in-law.

STOCKHOLDERS TO MAKE UP $3,593,000 BANK SHORTAGE

Shareholders in Flint (Mich.) De-positors Agree to Reimburse President Mott.

By the Associated Press.
FLINT, Mich., Nov. 29.—Stockholders of the Union Industrial Bank today unanimously agreed to subscribe 25 per cent of their stock to replace the $3,593,000 in defaulted bonds by a group of its officers and employees. By this action, the stockholders reimbursed Charles S.
Mott, president, for the cash he deposited to cover the deficit.

Under today's agreement, Mott in common with other stockholders, will bear his share of the loss.

FROST IN SOUTH FORECAST

Coldest Weather to Be General, Is U. S. Prediction.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The coldest weather of the season is forecast for tonight here and will prevail generally with freezing temperatures as far south as Southern Georgia and possibly extreme Northern Florida.

Some comfort, however, was seen in the prediction that there would be a return to somewhat higher temperatures Saturday afternoon as far east as the Appalachian region, with the weather growing warmer Sunday in all sections east of the Mississippi River.

WITNESS TELLS OF WINNING $219,000 FROM ROTHSTEIN

"Nigger Nate" Raymond on Stand at Trial of George McManus for New York Gambler's Murder.

NEVER COLLECTED HE DECLARES

Describes Stud Poker Game Which State Contains Furnished Motive for the Killing.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—"Nigger Nate" Raymond, a Pacific Coast gambler, who explained that his business was "speculating on the outcome of sporting events," was called as a witness for the prosecution when the trial of George McManus for the murder of Ar-old Rothstein, was resumed today.

Raymond was a participant in the stud poker game at which the State contends, arose the motive for McManus to shoot Rothstein.
Raymond won $219,000 from Rothstein, but never collected. He said he knew Hyman (Gillie) Biller, indicted with McManus, as McManus' cashier and pay-off man.

He said he knew the participants in the game, five of whom have already testified. The players included Meyer and Sam Boston, Martin (Red) Bowe, "Titanic"
Thomas of Milwaukee, Joe Bernstein, James Meahan, the host, and McManus.

The witness said he entered the game about 4 a. m. six hours after it had started and played through until it ended at 10 p. m.
Attorney James D. C. Murray for the defense presented a motion to strike out as irrelevant all testimony adduced regarding the big stud poker game. The motion was denied.

Raymond brought a new and unidentified player into the game, a "Charley" who won $15,000 from Rothstein. Raymond said he "bought" Meyer Boston's lucky seat in explaining how he knew that Boston had won.

"How much did you win or lose?" the witness was asked. "I lost in cash and won in paper," he said.

"How much?" "I lost $19,000 in cash and won $219,000 in I. O. U.'s." He never collected the I. O. U.'s, which were won from Rothstein, and were merely given by word of mouth, with no record of indebtedness.

Raymond said he had asked for a note from Rothstein, but Mc-Manus and the rest laughed at him so he merely took Rothstein's oral promise to pay.

Raymond said he made his biggest bet with Rothstein, at the stud poker game.

"How high did you bet with Rothstein on any one play?" "Forty thousand," said Raymond unflinching.

On that deal, against his objections, Rothstein cut the cards.
"Did you win or lose?" Asst. Attorney District Attorney Pecora asked.
"I won."

Mrs. Mariam Putnam of Asheville, N. C., testified that she heard loud voices and a "crash" on the third floor of the Park Central Hotel on Nov. 4, 1928, the night
the State says McManus shot Rothstein there in room 349. When she heard the crash she said she was standing in the third floor hallway of the hotel near room 349.

Before the crash she had heard several men's voices raised as though in anger in some nearby room.

She said she could not tell whether the crash was the report of a firearm or not, as she was unfamiliar with firearms. If fighting, she admitted, and she turned and ran back toward her own room, which was on the same floor.

After she had taken a few steps she turned and saw a man coming down the hall after her, his hands clashed to his stomach.

75 SOLDIER DEAD BROUGHT BACK TO
U. S. FROM RUSSIA

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD TODAY

56 of Those Who Died on Archangel Front to Be Returned to Detroit on Special Train.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The last of the returning American World War dead, 75 soldiers, who died in Russia, were home today.

After 10 years in lonely graves and a trip half around the world, they received the full military honors of the nation as the United States liner President Roosevelt brought them to their home shores.

Delayed by wintry gales, not unlike those faced by that small allied force at the Archangel front during the winter of 1918-19, the ship reached quarantine shortly before 8 o'clock this morning.

Official honors started there with the destroyer Kane, the municipal tug Macom and an airplane escort assigned as a guard of honor for the 10-mile trip up the harbor to the liner's Hoboken pier.

Delegations aboard the two escorting ships represented the Nation, the cities of Detroit and New York, the State of Michigan, which furnished most of the men for the Russian campaign, and patriotic clubs.

Flags on public buildings in New York were at half staff, while at the Hoboken pier elaborate military ceremonies were arranged.

A special room was set apart for the dead and soldiers of the Sixteenth Infantry assigned as a guard of honor. The Rev. Wallace Hayes of Rutland, Mass., national chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, through whose efforts the bodies were brought back to this country, was in charge of a memorial service. Another brief service will be held at the Pennsylvania Railroad station here tomorrow after which 56 of the bodies will be started by special train for Detroit.

Honors to Be Paid on Trip.
On the way to Detroit honors will be paid to the funeral train by various cities. At North Philadelphia, the first stop, a firing squad and a bugle corps will greet the train; at Harrisburg, Pa., a troop of National Guardsmen will stand at attention while Gov. John S. Fisher delivers an address at Pittsburg, Pa., as the train passes there tomorrow night, other honors will be paid by World War veterans.

Arriving in Detroit Sunday afternoon, the train will be met by an official delegation headed by Gov.
Frederick W. Green and troops from Fort Wayne. After services in Arlington National Cemetery, two to Chicago; one to New Richmond, Wis.; one will be buried here, and the remaining 13 will go to various other points including South Boston, Mass., Lancaster, Pa.; Danville, Ill.; Marshfield, Wis.; Brown City, Grand Rapids, East
Tawas, Manistee and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Muskegon, Mont., and Aurore, Ind.

Twenty-nine Bodies Unidentified.
The official delegations boarded the funeral ship from the city tug at the Quarantine station. A large floral wreath was placed on the flag-draped coffin of the unknown soldier, chosen from among the 29 unidentified bodies which had been placed in state on an after deck.

The day was cold and blustery.
Overhead drifted a squadron of army airplanes. As Governor's Island was reached, the army post at Fort Jay fired a salute of 17 guns.
At the Hoboken dock the Federal Government continued its tribute, guard of honor and an army band participating in the ceremonies. The band played Chopin's funeral march, "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

$769 TAKEN IN HOLDUP
OF DOWNTOWN GARAGE

Associated Motor Terminals, 117 South Broadway
Robbed by Two Men.

Nine persons were held up today in the office of William King and Associates, Inc., and the Associated Motor Terminals, 117 South Broadway, and $769 stolen. The office is just south of the Broad-Wal Garage, Broadway and Walnut street, one of four downtown garages

Three young men in a Buick coupe entered the office at 11 o'clock.
While one remained at the wheel,
the others went inside, drawing revolvers.

The cashier, Frederick Horrell, was seated at a desk near the door with $769 in receipts, just delivered from the Jefferson-Plaza Garage, Thirteenth and St. Charles streets.
William King, the president;
Thomas M. Ward, the vice president, and six other persons, including three women employees, also were in the office. All were marched to the rear of the office, behind a partition, and made to stand with their hands raised and their backs turned to the robbers.

"Now you go and get the money," one robber told the other.
"Hurry on, we haven't got much time," he added.

His companion took the money from the top of the cashier's desk and called out: "I've got the dough, hurry on." The robbers ran out to the waiting automobile in which they escaped.

CHICAGO GRAFT WITNESS SENTENCED FOR CONTEMPT

Man Who Told of Bribing Police Gets Six Months for Refusing to Testify in Court.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—David Rockola, chief witness for the State in the prosecution of six police captains and others charged with conspiracy to operate slot machines, was sentenced to six months in jail today for contempt of court when he refused to testify for the third time he refused to testify.

Rockola when called to the stand, stood upon his constitutional rights and refused to testify on the ground he might incriminate himself. The State dismissed a charge of conspiracy against him, but Rockola still refused to answer questions.

Finally, in a motion asking the court to hold Rockola for contempt of court if he did not testify, the State read a transcript of his testimony before the grand jury in which he told of paying bribes to police captains and politicians for the privilege of operating slot machines in their districts.

Byrd's Companions on Flight Are Experts in Their Work

BERT BALCHEN, a formerly flight lieutenant in the Norwegian Naval Air Service who distinguished himself in making a survey of Lapland and Spitzbergen for Norway, has been associated with Byrd since their trans-Atlantic flight, on which he was relief pilot.
He was one of the first chosen by Byrd for the Antarctic trip.
Two of his notable flights on this continent were one over Hudson Bay for Canada and the relief expedition to Greenland for the stranded Bremen flyers. He holds an engineering degree from the University of Haerensand, Sweden.

CAPT. ASHLEY C. MCKIN-LEY, experienced in both lighter and heavier-than-air flying and an expert in aerial photography, was formerly stationed at Scott Field, Belleville. While here he mapped the Mississippi River from Cairo to St. Louis and also 3000 square miles of Tennessee in connection with water power development. Later he left the army and entered advertising and is now vice-president of a St. Louis firm, the Frank Boyd Advertising Company.

HAROLD L. JUNE is a petty officer in the Navy, lent to the Byrd expedition by the Navy Department. He is an expert on aeronautical engines, besides being a veteran pilot and a radio man. He has had more than 1500 flying hours and was pilot of the geological trip on the present expedition which was stranded in the Rockefeller Mountains for four days during an Arctic storm.

NEW RADIO PRINCIPLE SAID TO REDUCE ETHER CONGESTION

It Is Expected to Enable 5000 Stations to Operate Within 100 Meters.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 29.—A new principle in wireless reception which it was said would reduce present congestion of the ether to such an extent that it would enable 5000 stations to work between wave lengths of 300 to 600 meters, instead of the 25 stations that may operate under present conditions, was demonstrated here last night.

The principle is the discovery of James Robinson, former head of the wireless laboratories of the Royal Air Force. He was the first to equip British airplanes with radio direction finders.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Rev. Francis A. Tondorf, director of the Georgetown University Seis-mological Observatory, and widely known as a student of earth disturbances, died here today.

His death came unexpectedly.
He appeared at a dinner with other priests and college officers as usual last night, but this morning when he failed to appear, associates went to his room to find him dead in bed. He apparently had succumbed to a heart attack during the night.

He was one of the foremost sei-smologists of the world. One of his most notable pieces of work was placing of the Japanese earthquake in 1923 many hours before the world at large heard about this major catastrophe. At that time Little America or so near the

he also calculated the area in which earth movements had occurred long before they were reported by telegraph and cable.

(This message was relayed by the radio station at Little America,

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—"All is well with the Byrd plane" was the message that Commander Byrd's base at Little America flashed to the New York Times at 1:30 o'clock this morning (5:30 St. Louis time).
As this message was received radio contact with Little America faded out, as is usual at that hour.
From Byrd's airplane, as it sped toward the South Pole, the New York Times radio station last night and early this morning had been receiving frequent messages to 3:20 a. m. These messages were signed by Harold L. June, the radio operator, and were routed through Little America, the expedi-tion's base.

Soon after that hour the plane reached the neighborhood of the Queen Maud range of mountains, 440 miles south of the base and half way to the Pole. An elevation of 10,000 to 15,000 feet was recorded. It is conceivable that with 800 gallons of gasoline, which was about the fuel load, the flight under the most favorable conditions might be stretched back to Little America or so near the Pole that it would fall short by a few miles.

Wreck of America's Largest Plane and Houses It Fired

The F-32, Fokker monoplane, built to carry 32 passengers, smashed into two houses at Carle Place, near Westbury, Long Island, Wednesday, wrecking the houses and bursting into flames. The two occupants of the plane were able to jump out to safety.

EXPERT ACCOUNTANT TO AID CITY COUNSELOR

Prof. Krebs of Washington U. Will Check Up Reports of Utility Firms.

Prof. William S. Krebs, who holds the chair of accounting in the Commerce and Finance school of Washington University, will be employed by the City Counselor's office to check up earnings and reports of public utility companies. Authorization for this arrangement was given by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today.

City Counselor Muehich, who presented the matter, explained that he needed expert accounting services, at times, in rate cases and in the examination of the statements made by the utility companies to the State Public Service Commission. Prof. Krebs will be engaged on a part-time basis, and his compensation will be made as to his rate of compensation.

The Board of Estimate approved an additional appropriation of $25,000 for the Board of Children Guardians, making a total of $167,000 for the fiscal year. The Board of Guardians, in a letter signed by Mr. Charles Ellis, chairman, said that $49,685 was needed for the year of the fiscal year, chiefly to pay for the board and care of children placed out with private families. The number of children under the board's care Oct. 1 was 1105.

KILLS PLAN FOR ASPHALT STRIPS ON McCausland Av.

Public Service Board Announces It Will Ask Aldermen to Widen That Thoroughfare.

The Board of Public Service today killed the proposal to replace macadam side strips in McCausland avenue with asphalt, in addition to the existing 18-foot asphalt center strip, to make a 40-foot pavement, between Manchester and Clayton avenues.

It announced, however, that it would draft an ordinance soon to widen that section of McCausland from 60 to 80 feet, establishing a 56-foot roadway. It is also proposed to extend McCausland southward from Manchester, connecting with the new Arsenal street viaduct and the projected River des Peres drive.

Property owners had protested against the plan to pave the pavement on the existing street. One reason they advanced was the fear that a new sewer might have to be laid beneath the street because storm water sewers in the area are base-

SLAYER OF SISTER, WITNESS AGAINST HIM, GETS LIFE

Joseph L. Cather, 33, Pleads Guilty of First-Degree Murder in Drunken Shooting Six Weeks Ago.

Life imprisonment was the penalty for Joseph L. Cather, 33-year-old decorating contractor, when he pleaded guilty today of first-degree murder in the killing six weeks ago of a sister who was to appear against him as a witness in a larceny case.

A heavy-set man, partly bald and shabbily dressed, Cather made no statement when arraigned before Circuit Judge Calhoun on an indictment voted Wednesday.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Flynn informed the court that Cather, through counsel, had waived his legal right to another 24 hours before arraignment. After sentence was passed, Cather was returned to City Jail to await transportation to the State Penitentiary at Jefferson City.

Shooting on Oct. 14. In a fit of rage while drinking, he shot his sister, Miss Martha Eva Cather, 41, as she left her home at 3100 North Newstead avenue, the night of Oct. 14.

Cather fled in a taxi cab, but was traced by police and arrested. "I just finished paying off an old grudge," he added. "If she's not dead now, I hope she dies. I wanted to kill her for interfering in my domestic and personal affairs."

His sister, wounded four times, died the following day, whereupon Cather changed his statement to: "I'm sorry."

Ten in His Family. Since then he has been in jail, estranged from his wife and his family which, before the killing, comprised two sisters, seven brothers and the mother.

At the inquest, he declined to testify, but other members of the family said the shooting was "without provocation." They testified he had threatened to "take care" of members of the family, after being accused of burning down his former home at Affton. He bore a particular grudge against Martha, who was to have appeared against him, in Court of Criminal Correction, having turned over to police a $15 watch he was accused of stealing.

Former Film Comedian Dies.

OSHTON, Wis., Nov. 29.—Alice Washburn, 68 years old, one of the early motion picture comedienne, died at her home yesterday of heart disease. She had been in ill health for several years.

In the early part of the century, Miss Washburn became identified with photoplays and shared the popularity enjoyed by John Bunny, best known of the early screen comedians.

Window Broken, Bus Rider Cut.

Benjamin Deck, 4248 Russell boulevard, suffered cuts on the face and left ear yesterday afternoon when a window of a Peoples motorbus on which he was a passenger, was broken by snowballs thrown by boys at Shaw boulevard and Thurman avenue.

6 1/2-Inch Snowfall Sets Record For November in St. Louis

Today's Temperature of Nine Degrees Above Zero Lowest November in 49 Years, When It Was a Degree Colder.

St. Louisans, who rubbed their eyes yesterday morning in wonderment at the unexpected, deep Thanksgiving snow, rubbed their hands and ears today by reason the equally unexpected cold snap.

The snowfall of 6 1/2 inches was the heaviest ever recorded here in November. The low temperature of 9 degrees above zero, from 6:30 to 7 o'clock this morning, was the lowest November mark here since Nov. 19, 1880, when the temperature dropped to 3 degrees.

As the temperature dropped the snow froze crisp, and that which had melted under feet or automobile wheels turned into a mass of ice.

There were numerous minor automobile accidents and skidding was common. Some motorists had trouble starting their cars.

Six Hurt By Falls. Six persons, including four who suffered sprained wrists and ankles, were injured in falls on icy pavements. Police Sergeant Jeremiah O'Connor of the Magnolia Avenue district fell at Grand boulevard and Park avenue early today and injured his back. He is 61 years old and resides at 5238 Sutherland avenue. Ollie Nelson, 70, no home, fractured his hip at 4:40 p. m., and was taken to a hospital.

Six hundred homeless men slept at Municipal Lodging House, where 1208 meals were served during the day. Wednesday night there were 519, a number slightly above the average earlier in the month. Last year's maximum number of lodgers was 750 and two years ago a record of 1181 was reached.

Deaths Causes Shifts in Senate Committee

Jones Likely to Succeed Warren as Appropriations Chairman.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Senator Smoot, of Utah, announced today he preferred to retain the chairmanship of the Finance Committee in the reorganization of the Senate Republican Committee assignments, thus opening the way for Senator Jones, of Washington, to become chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Smoot's decision is regarded as the key to the organization's plan. As a result, Senator Watson of Indiana, is expected to continue as party leader. Watson would have been next in line for chairman of the Finance Committee which handles all revenue legislation had Smoot taken over the Appropriations Committee leadership.

The chairmanship of the Appropriations group was made vacant last week by the death of Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, dean of the Senate.

With Jones in line for the chairmanship of the Appropriations Committee, it appeared likely that McNary of Oregon, would become assistant party leader, a post now held by Jones.

The Western Independents have demanded a place on the Finance Committee, and LaFollette of Wisconsin is their choice.

Smoot gave notice today that as soon as the Senate disposed next week of the question of seating Senator-elect Vard of Pennsylvania, he would bring up the tariff bill again.

SAYS HE SAW YOUTH ON WAY TO WEDDING SLAIN

Woodsmen to Be Witness at Mountain View, Ark., Despite Death Threats

By the Associated Press. MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Nov. 29.—Eugene Chausse, 33-year-old woodman, who says he stood behind a tree and saw the mutilation and burning alive of Connie Franklin, when the latter was on his way to his wedding, by a band of men, will be one of the State's principal witnesses at the trial next month of five men accused of the crime. Sheriff Sam Johnson announced today.

Chausse, often threatened with death, was induced to break his silence upon assurance of protection. The Sheriff said. Ruben Harrell, Atkins, dead-mute boy, and Tiller Rummier, 14-year-old sweetheart of the slain youth, were other witnesses.

Chausse told Sheriff Johnson he was on his way home the night of the killing when he heard screams. Seeing a group of men moving about in the woods, he took a position behind a tree and, he said, "saw considerable."

"Franklin was begging for mercy," he was quoted as saying, "and he begged so hard."

"Please let me live 10 minutes longer to go to Charlie Rummier's house," he begged, but the men replied, "We're going to kill you."

The Sheriff gave the woodman as saying, "I then saw the big man raise a heavy club and bring it down on Franklin's head. He let out a cry, but it was awful weak, and fell to the ground."

Chausse said he was standing too far away to distinguish the features of any of the men but said there were nine. He said he recognized Franklin's voice.

The five men held for the slaying, two of whom are also charged with an attack on the girl, who was forced to witness the mutilation and burning of her sweetheart, are Alex Pulka, father of five children; Herman Greenway, Hubert Hester, Joe White and Bill C. Younger. Four others are sought.

Hospital. He has tuberculosis. He admitted stealing a taxicab, $4 and a watch from a chauffeur whom he engaged to drive about the city. Pearl O'Neal, 1623 Mississippi avenue, jointly accused with Baum, was acquitted some time ago on her testimony that she did not participate in the robbery and accompanying Baum under compulsion.

8 IN BUS OVERCOME BY GAS

Driver Kept Engine Running for Heat During Repairs.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 29.—Overcome by carbon monoxide gas, eight persons on a Detroit-to-Pittsburgh Colonial Stage Line bus were sent to a hospital here today, but were discharged after treatment.

Those overcome were H. E. Manion, 51 years old, Chicago; Louise Wilson, Philadelphia; Pedro Muner, Detroit; Walter Moebus, 26, Pittsburgh; William Weller, 26, Cumberland, Md.; F. S. Molter, Pittsburgh; the driver; Miss Teznie Hanitula, 23, Ann Arbor, Mich. Needing repairs to the windshield, the driver guided the bus to the passenger station of another line, and kept the motor idling while the repairs were being made, so that the bus would be kept warm by heat from the exhaust. Workmen at the repair station noticed the passengers slumped over in their seats and first thought they were asleep, but investigation showed most of them were unconscious.

JAPANESE MINISTER TO CHINA ENDS LIFE OVER WIFE'S DEATH

Found Shot at Resort Near Tokio; Once Charge d'Affaires at Washington.

TOKIO, Nov. 29.—Despondent over the death of his wife three years ago, Sadao Saburi, Japanese Minister to China, last night shot and killed himself at Miyanojima, a fashionable mountain resort 45 miles southwest of Tokio. His body was discovered this morning when a servant went to his quarters to call him.

Saburi returned to Japan recently to discuss forthcoming negotiations between his country and the Government to which he was accredited. He was considered among the most brilliant members of the Japanese foreign service and once was charge d'affaires in Washington, at later at London.

STUNNING STORMSHUS

the mode
moderne

ANOTHER season of Fashionable Overshoes brings another opportunity for the nation-wide group of Nisley stores to present its patrons with supreme values in high quality overshoes at unusually low prices. The ultra-smart lines, the superb fitting qualities, the lovely color tones and attractive patterns of these new Nisley Stormshus take them out of the realms of the ordinary in character and style. The prices are a revelation.

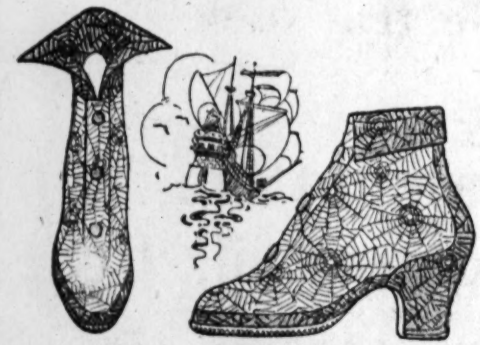

Nisley "NORDIC"
$2.50

THE SEASON'S jauntiest mode in the automatic fastener type of overshoe. A lovely shade of brown with dainty all-over spider-web pattern. This is an all rubber shoe with neutral, non-fadable lining. Heels and toes to fit practically all types of shoes. Also shown in all black spider-web rubber. First quality of course—Nisley's price, $2.50.

Nisley "COSSACK"

A VOGUISH cloth (one-snap) stormshu in an exceedingly smart new brown heather mixture with the sole and heel in contrasting brown spider-web rubber. Non-fadable plaid sports lining. Heels and toes to fit practically all types of shoes. Shown also in plain black. First quality at Nisleys, $2.00.

Nisley "VIKING"

A NEW note in fashionable three snap stormshus. An all-over spider web rubber shoe in a striking two tone effect combining tan with a perfectly harmonious shade of brown. Neutral non-fadable linings. Heels and toes to fit practically all types of shoes. First quality only, Nisley's price, $2.00.

CHICAGO BUDGET MORE THAN TAXES FOR YEARS

Cook County Seeking to Reduce Deficit by Cutting Officials' Salaries.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—In debt to the extent of $4,500,000 to $5,000,000 with no immediate prospect of additional revenue, Cook County through its governing board sought relief by a voluntary reduction of 20 per cent in the salaries of its chief officials.

Chicago, which is included in the county, is in an even worse position because its budget year runs until Jan. 1, while the county can start anew Dec. 1. Chicago's deficit is twice as large. The Board of Education, the Park Board and suburban cities and towns in Cook County are all in the same dilemma.

The exact reasons for the condition are not quite clear. In the first place Cook County's 1928 assessment was wiped out by the State Tax Commission chiefly because of the efforts of the Chicago Teachers' Federation in proving it inequitable and unfair. That was the teachers' answer to the School Board's complaint that it had not enough money to pay higher salaries. The board members said if taxes were properly levied and collected, there would be enough.

Tax Collection Stopped. Wiping out the assessment stopped tax collection that year and no taxes have been collected since then. Through the efforts of a citizens' committee, headed by Silas E. Strawn, a thorough job was laid out to correct the assessment once and for all. Harry S. Cutmore, a high-priced executive of an appraisal company, was placed in charge.

The work has since been in progress and the most recent prediction was that the tax bills will not be ready to send out until the middle of February. The cost so far has been more than $1,500,000 three times the sum originally asked for, and this is an additional burden placed on the county without provision for paying it.

Meanwhile the county, the city, the School Board and other bodies sharing in the county taxes have been getting along on borrowed money. This has been obtained chiefly by the sale of tax anticipation warrants. George F. Harding, county treasurer, said recently the interest on these for the county alone amounts to $2500 a day.

Paying Interest on Interest. "We are in the position of a man who borrows $100 at six per cent interest," Charles S. Peterson, deputy city comptroller, explained. "When the $6 interest is due, he doesn't have it, so he borrows $6 more and pays interest on this interest, amounting to 36 cents and he hasn't even that much with which to pay."

Another factor in the financial muddle is the fact that since no taxes have become due, the county has lost $700,000 in fees usually exacted from delinquents and an additional $2,300,000 in fees from other offices held back by the tax delay.

It is pointed out, however, chiefly by Cutmore and his supporters, that the county and other bodies have been spending more than the amount of their revenues for several years and thus the crash was precipitated, not caused by the delay in tax collection. Officials on the other hand place the blame for this on the Legislature which has constantly added to the county's burdens in new offices and departments created without providing means to support them.

When the taxes are finally levied, it is predicted, the city of Chicago will be even worse off because its assessment will be lower and its rate is fixed by law. The suburban communities will be better off because of a readjustment of relative values. In the past the assessments have been unfair and inequitable with political pull counting most in their fixation.

17-YEAR-OLD BOY ARRESTED THIRD TIME FOR AUTO THEFT
David Krantz Last March Confessed He Stole Seven Cars.

David Krantz, 17-year-old son of Max Krantz, 7920 Dartmouth avenue, University City, was arrested yesterday in a stolen automobile and admitted the theft, according to University City police. The youth has been arrested three times for automobile thefts, but has avoided prosecution because of his age. Last March he confessed to stealing seven, which he abandoned after driving for short periods.

He was arrested yesterday when a policeman saw him walk a block from his home to a parked automobile. The car was stolen a week ago from Miss Mary Broderick, 325 Woodlawn avenue, Kirkwood, who had parked it near Grand and Washington boulevards. It was equipped with license plates stolen from another automobile.

WARRANTS FOR TWO IN SHOOTING OF PATROLMAN

Albert Joseph, 19, Wounded at Same Time With Policeman London, and Charles Keeley Accused.

Warrants charging robbery and assault with intent to kill were issued today against two suspects, one of whom is wounded and the other identified by a policeman, also wounded, as one of three men who exchanged shots with him Wednesday afternoon when he interrupted a holdup in a restaurant at 909 North Eleventh street.

The wounded man, Albert Joseph, 19 years old, 1026 Dillon street, is in a serious condition from wounds in the back, over the left eye and in the left leg. The other is Charles Keeley, 26 years old, 510 Elm street, frequently seen in the company of the wounded robber.

Patrolman Carl London, shot in the right thigh, identified Keeley as one of the two men who ran away, uninjured. Keeley has been arrested frequently by police, and was held Nov. 16 when $15,000 in checks taken in the holdup of the Mounds Country Club, East Side gambling house, were found in rooms occupied by him and a companion. Payment on the checks was stopped and the owners of the club would not prosecute.

Keeley denied participation in a restaurant holdup, in which $100 was taken from the proprietor, Dave Margulis, and $252 from six customers. Patrolman London's identification, however, was supported by Patrolman William Klessling, who was with him.

London, who is 27 years old and resides at 2008 Sidney street, is a native of Farmington, Mo., where his father, William London, was Sheriff until last Sept. 23 when he was killed by a man he was trying to arrest.

Cafe Manager Shot at 2211 Franklin Identifies Robber.

Gus Blanopolus, night manager of a restaurant at 2211 Franklin avenue, who was shot through the left hip and abdomen at 2:10 a. m.
yesterday when he obtained a revolver as three Negroes held him up, identified a youth arrested an hour and a half later as one of the robbers.

The Negro, who gave the name of Alonzo Smith, 19 years old, was arrested at his home, 2815 Morgan street. He denied the charge.

Blanopolus fired at the robbers when they told him to raise his hands. One Negro returned the fire, the bullet striking Blanopolus who followed them to the door continuing to fire. Smith is not the man who shot him, he said.

Walking along Channing avenue between Washington boulevard and Lucas avenue at 10:15 o'clock last night, Fred Lynch and Edward Hassenfritz, both of Philadelphia and guests at the Melbourne Hotel, were held up by an armed man who leaped from an automobile which pulled to the curb and escaped in the machine with a companion. Lynch lost $68 and $80 was taken from Hassenfritz.

While she waited for a bus at Kingshighway and Southwest avenue, Mrs. Thelma Sweetin, 6940 Bradley avenue, was robbed of her purse containing $1 by an armed man at 10 o'clock last night.

The candy kitchen of Chris Johnson, 6200 Delmar boulevard, was robbed early today by two men with red handkerchiefs over their faces. The robbers took $97 from the cash register, $191 from the proprietor, and $52 from Thomas Tollopoulos, a clerk.

John Sigmund, a grocer at 2700
Lucas avenue, was robbed of $25 at 6:35 a. m. by two Negroes.

PARENTS OF TWO SENTENCED FOR PLOT UNDER DYER ACT

Frank Jones, Willisville, Ill., and His Wife Get Two Years Each;
Other Convictions.

Mrs. Bertha Jones, 37 years old, Willisville, Ill., the mother of two children, was sentenced to two years in the Federal Institute for Women at Alderson, W. V., by Federal Judge Wham at East St. Louis Wednesday, after a jury found her and three other defendants, including her husband, Frank, guilty of conspiracy to violate the Dyer act.

Jones was sentenced to two years in Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., and the other two men,
Lasco McKay, 23, and Michael Schmidt, 19, both of St. Louis, were sentenced to two years and a year and a day, respectively, in the Federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O.

Indictments charged that nine automobiles stolen in St. Louis by McKay and Schmidt were repaired at the Jones' chicken farm near Willisville and sold. Five of the cars were recovered.

Victor Rieken, 16, St. Louis, who pleaded guilty of driving the cars to the farm and testified against the others, was sentenced to three years at the National Training School, Washington.

LITTLE ROCK MAN GETS FIVE YEARS ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 28.—
J. G. Cate, proprietor of Little Rock drug store, was found guilty here yesterday of a criminal attack on a 14-year-old Sebastian County high school girl on October 9, while the girl was here in company with other high school students and teachers to attend the Arkansas State Fair. His punishment was assessed at five years in prison. The trial, begun Monday morning, ended before noon today, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Attorneys for Cate announced today that they will file a motion for a new trial and if the motion is overruled will appeal to the Supreme Court. Under the indictment the penalty could have been from one year imprisonment to death in the electric chair.

Byrd Plane Provided Against Emergency of Forced Landing

Its Food Supply Sufficient for Three Months—Other Equipment Brings Its Load Up to About 1400 Pounds.

By RUSSELL OWEN,
(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times and the Post-Dispatch.)

THE story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news items from the expedition of Commander Byrd to the South Pole will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Nov. 20.—The material taken in the plane on Commander Byrd's polar flight consists largely of supplies and equipment which might be needed in the event of a forced landing.

If it were not that this contingency must be provided for, the load would be lighter. So, most of the supplies which are being taken are for this purpose, sledges, food, clothes, cooker, and even emergency radio and medical equipment. Food is the heaviest item in the list, as enough must be taken to provide for four men for three months. It weighs about 800 pounds. Then comes clothing, weighing about 300 pounds; camping equipment, weighing a little over 100 pounds; traveling equipment, including sledges, weighing 95 pounds; navigation instruments, weighing 20 pounds; radio gear, weighing 68 pounds, and medical equipment, weighing four pounds.

Keeping Weight at Minimum. Commander Byrd has gone over these lists time and again this winter, consulting with various members of the expedition most directly concerned to make sure not only that nothing essential is overlooked but also that the amount to be taken might be kept down to the minimum weight. Things have been taken out of original containers and put in lighter containers, reduced in every way consistent with safety. A forced landing on the plateau would mean a long walk home and Byrd has made his plans to meet this extreme emergency.

Food is, of course, the most vitally important part of the emergency equipment. Man-hauling is the hardest kind of work, and a ration on which men can keep their strength and still pull sledge-loads must not only be sufficient in quantity but contain necessary nutritional elements.

The emergency ration for the plane consists of pemmican of the same kind used so successfully by Amundsen and used by the trail parties of the Byrd expedition; biscuit containing many valuable food elements, powdered milk, sugar, peanut butter, bacon, condensed soup, rolls, raisins, tea, cocoa, chocolate and salt. This ration will provide 36 ounces a man a day, and enough has been taken to support four men for three months.

Dry Clothing for Explorers. The clothes have been selected also to meet all conditions on the trail and Commander Byrd made up his list after experimenting all winter and also using the experience of men who have been on the trail.

Each man will have a fur parka and fur pants, sleeping bag, woolen parka, woolen pants, light windproof pants and parka, windproof shirt, woolen underwear, sweater, fur hat, woolen helmet, scarf, mukluks, ski boots, canvas boots, caribou socks, moccasins, woolen socks, windproof socks, mitts of several kinds, face masks, safety belt and pulling harness; also towel, sewing kit, knife, snow glasses, crampons, compass and a few other articles.

This clothing has been varied so that after a day of pulling and becoming soaked with perspiration the men may put on dry clothing and so far as possible avoid the wet which has made polar travel so uncomfortable and even dangerous.

The camping outfit consists of a tent, a Czechka-cooker using a primus stove, aluminum soup bowls, enameled cups, wooden spoons, primus stove cleaner, needles, 10 gallons of gasoline for the stove, boxes of solidified alcohol tablets to light the stove, matches, snow knife, saw, shovel, ice ax and wire.

The traveling equipment consists of two sledges and canvas tanks to hold the loads, sled meter, rawhide sails for sleds, bamboo poles to be used crossing crevasses, skis and ski poles, straps and repair gear for the skis, one pair snowshoes, three lengths of alpine rope with knots and loops and smoke bombs for signaling.

The navigation equipment comprises a Burnstead sun compass with pelorus, binoculars, pocket aneroid barometer, two thermometers, dividers, ruler, protractor, four watches on Greenwich mean time, triangle, Czechka position compass, azimuth and line of position tables, nautical almanac, four charts, note book, lead pencils, sextant and oil for horizontal horizon.

The sewing kit contains needles of various kinds, safety pins, pins, awl, wax, darning wool, twine and several kinds of threads, cloth to patch windproof and hide and fur, patch mukluks and cloths, leather marlin-splice, awl, palm, one-eighth-inch line and wool for repairs.

The radio equipment consists of a transmitter, another transmitter for the radio compass, antenna, receiver, storage battery, radio helmets and spare parts.

The emergency radio gear, to be taken on the sled if necessary, consists of a portable transmitter-receiver, storage battery, hand generator, antenna wires and insula-tors. This set with spare parts weighs 68 pounds and could be used for communicating not only with the base but with the geological dog-team party at the mountain.

The photographic survey during the flight to the South Pole from Little America will, if successful, make a record of this region which can be returned to civilization and studied at leisure by those who are interested in the formation of the South Polar Continent.

Such a survey is difficult because elevations will be constantly changing. The work must be done in cold more severe than usually encountered at home in a surveying flight, and every moment in the photographer's time must be utilized to the best advantage. Such flights are not repeated and there will be no opportunity to make good deficiencies in the record.

As a task it is probably unique, as there has never been made a single strip map 1600 miles long on one flight. If everything goes well, it will be a map which in length and content will be new and of great value.

The camera is aimed through holes in either side of the plane where canvas flaps have been made to fasten around it to keep out the wind. Pictures will be made of one side of the route going out and of the other coming back. If the same route is taken, and as they are taken at an angle they will cover a large territory.

Mosaic Map. The photographs will be obliged taken at 20 degrees from the horizontal and overlapped so as to give a continuous strip from our base, which is on the coast, to the South Pole, about 600 miles inland. From these photographs additional verifications can be made on the existing line-maps, or hand-drawn, and photographic maps can be constructed.

The mosaic is made of overlapping photographs held and pasted on a mount or base on which data. Controls may be defined and all data used to fix points on which to construct a mosaic or map.

These data are always related to some point located on the existing survey cannot be made with the surface and an exactly accurate picture of the entire area contained in the exposed film. The length of the area covered on each picture will vary from

PALESTINE BOARD ARAB GRIEVANCES ARABS ON LAND

their Cause Is Presented by English Woman Who Has Lived in That Section
Since 1889.

Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Nov. 29, by the Press and Pulitzer Prize Co. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch).
JERUSALEM, Nov. 28.—Miss Josephine Newton, an English woman independent means, who has been residing in Palestine since 1889 and is an anti-Zionist, testified before the Palestine commission of the discontent there which preceded the Balfour declaration. Departing from its procedure, which is to inquire into the immediate causes of the riots, the commission allowed this witness to present what are considered the fundamental Arab grievances concerning land tenure and taxation, referring to the transfer of the largest part of the Plain of Esdraelon to Zionists, the witness contended that the courts put through the title despite unsatisfied Arab claims. Government Counsel Keenly objected to the suggestion of the witness that the Government authorized land transfers without inquiring into the titles. Replying to Miss Newton's accusations regarding 12,000 acres of Sarrah swamp he quoted the British reply to the permanent mandate commission to show that was a pre-war concession to the Jewish Colonization Association.

Miss Newton said that the Arabs resent the higher taxation which they believe will be brought about by the Zionist policy, maintaining that this policy necessitates the presence of high-priced British officials and the use of three official languages, English, Arabic and Hebrew.

Another Witness for Arabs.
An Arab agricultural expert named Selim Farah, attempted to prove a decrease in Palestine agricultural productivity since the transfer of Arab villages to the Jews. He also testified the Jews ousted Arab peasants wholesale after purchasing the land from absentee owners. Farah was educated at the University of Illinois and Cornell.

He testified that the Sursooks family obtained title to the most fertile land in Palestine through the corruption of the Turkish Government. He estimated that 945 families had been evicted from land purchased by Jews on the Plain of Esdraelon. Wheat and barley, grown in Esdraelon, are now sent to the Jews and Palestine is becoming more dependent upon imported foods and fodder for cattle, he said.

Decreased Productivity.
He quoted Wilkamsky, director of the Zionist experiment station, as describing the hardships of untrained Jews working on unprepared land and said that the decrease in revenue since the transfer to the Jews indicates decreased productivity.

Discussing the decision of the Government to erect a Jewish agricultural school which is provided for in the will of the late Sir Moïse de Rothschild, a wealthy Shanghai Jew, he said that it would be a hardship to the Bedouins to use the proposed site. He said that transfer of the land to the Jews ended the ancient tradition permitting Bedouins to pasture herds anywhere after the harvest.

"The average Bedouin doesn't know this is ended," he said, "until he tries it once and is fined." Hokin Morris, one of the commissioners, interrupted Farah's discussion of the school by saying: "I don't see how this is any of the business of the Jews. If there is a grievance it is really against the Government."

Nine Arabs were sentenced to jail at Haifa yesterday for the murder of the Efflat family during the riot at Safed. Another was sentenced to 15 years for labor and three were acquitted. The condemned include one public health official.

ERASTUS WELLS AGAIN TO HEAD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOARD
St. Louis, Nov. 28.—Erastus Wells, E. B. Eiseman, E. B. Meisner and C. H. Morrill. A. B. Ellis was nominated to serve out Meisner's term as director, which expires in 1931. Thomas N. Dymart and George C. Smith were renominated for one-year terms in the directorate. Eleven others are nominees for one-year terms as directors, as follows: C. B. Fox, Jacob M. Lash, Harold J. Little, T. F. Lyman, Norman H. Moray, Guy W. Meyer, Edgar M. Queeny, Hillsman Taylor, Carl Stifel, Andrew W. Hanson and C. J. Daly.

CHILDREN'S PARADE POSTPONED

Nugent Store Will Sponsor Christmas Procession Sunday.
The heavy Thanksgiving day snow caused a last-minute postponement of the Nugent store's annual children's parade until 2 p. m. Sunday, when the procession will assemble at Kingshighway and Oakland avenue, moving over Kingshighway, Lindell boulevard, Locust street, Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue to the store. The parade will consist of 10 floats, representing Santa Claus and his workers and scenes from children's stories, as well as 57 other units.

HOUSE ON ADIE ROAD BURNS;

ONE OF OCCUPANTS MISSING

Lodger Reported to Have Entered Dwelling and Not Been Seen Since Fire

A five-room frame house on Adie road, near St. Charles Rock road, owned by Mrs. Lillian Meyer, was burned to the ground early this morning during the absence of the owner, who, with her family, was visiting in St. Louis.

Deputy Sheriffs began a search for Henry Ebel, 59 years old, who lived in the house, following a report that he had entered the dwelling about midnight and had not been seen since the fire. Charles B. Burton, a neighbor, discovered the fire, which started in the basement, and broke in the front door, calling out an alarm. No one responded to his calls and the flames spread quickly through the story and a half dwelling. The loss was estimated to be about $5000.

Kansas City Southern Dedication. By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Nov. 29.—Four hundred persons today were guests of the Kansas City Southern Railroad at the dedication of a new $2,000,000 right-of-way into Kansas City. The party was held over the new line in a special train. The ride included a round-trip from Kansas City Union Station to Grandview, Mo. Trackage of the Frisco Railroad has been used by the Kansas City Southern. Guests on the tour were entertained with music by the company band from Pittsburg, Kan.

FLOOD IN PORTUGUESE CAPITAL

24-hour Rain Hits Lisbon; Reservoir Bursts.

By the Associated Press.

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 29.—

Torrential rains, falling for 24 hours, caused floods yesterday in several sections of the Portuguese capital.

The food market, near the Tagus

River, was several feet under water.

Street car service was suspended in many parts of the town. In some streets the water rushed into basements, forcing many of the poor from their homes. One woman with two babies was trapped in one of these basements but was saved

by firemen. Many chimneys collapsed and several walls showed wide fissures. The city water supply reservoir burst, flooding a large section of the capital.

JUDGE TAYLOR URGED

FOR JUVENILE BENCH

Petition to Presiding Jurist

Sponsored by Heads of Social Welfare Groups.

A petition for assignment of Circuit Judge Wilson A. Taylor to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations

Courts has been sent to Presiding

Judge Hartmann.

Reassignments of Circuit Judges

are to be made Monday, effective

Jan. 1. Judge Taylor, now in a criminal division, served in the

divisions in 1927 and 1928. Sponsors of the petition are Mrs. E. H.

Steedman, president Community

Council; Julius Glaser, president,

Jewish Federation; Samuel C. Mc-

Cluney, president, Provident Association; and William L. Igoe, president, Society of St. Vincent de

Paul. Its signers include Democrats and Republicans, Protestants,

Catholics and Jews.

Cites Judge Taylor's Record.

The petition mentioned the "able service which Judge Taylor has already rendered," and added, "he has always shown himself quickly responsive to the requirements of justice; he is a keen interpreter of the spirit as well as the letter of our welfare laws, and he is unusually conversant with all of our public and voluntary welfare efforts in the protection and treatment of children."

The signers included John E.

Riley, Harold M. Bixby, D. K. Cat-

lin, Sidney Maestra, Wilder Lucas,

Tom K. Smith, John R. Shepley,

Isaac H. Orr, Hugh M. Jones,

Bert H. Lang, Lansing P. Smith,

FUNERAL SERVICES TOMORROW

FOR CAPT. JOSEPH DRYDEN

Steamboatman Had Spent 60 of

His 81 Years in Active Service on the River.

Funeral services for Capt. Joseph

Dryden, an active river man for more than 60 years, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Mullen chapel, 5165 Delmar boulevard. Burial will take place in Calvary cemetery.

Capt. Dryden, who was 81 years old, died Tuesday at his home,

1726 Corn Avenue, of the infirmities of age. He is survived by his widow, six children and six grandchildren.

Born in Newport, Ky., and reared in Perry County, Mo., Dryden turned to river work at the age of 17 when river traffic was at its height and remained on the Mississippi until 1926 when he returned.

He served as master or pilot of such steamers as the Belle of Memphis, the Elliot and the Cristal City of the old Anchor Line, and several Eagle packets. From 1901 to 1926 he was master of the

James Y. Lockwood, a Missouri

Pacific car-transfer boat operating between the river and the East Side.

TIDAL WAVE IN BRISTOL BAY,

ALASKA; DAMAGE $200,000

Many Ships Reported Beached,

Docks and Other Equipment

Washed Away.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 29.—Reports from canneries along the

Bristol Bay district of Alaska continued to come into Seattle yesterday and estimates of the damage caused by the terrific gale and tidal wave of Nov. 24 reached $200,-

000, indicating the storm was far more serious than at first reported.

The only communication with the storm-swept district is through the signal corps of the United States

Army at Dillingham and the Bureau of Education station at Kanakarek. One report stated that all its buildings and docks of

Libby, McNeill & Libby at Ekuk

had been carried away, that ship-ways were destroyed and all floating equipment beached.

The cannery of the Northwestern Fisheries Co. at Naknek reported all floating equipment, including numerous scows, were on the beach.

MAN, 71, ENDS LIFE BY GAS

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Suicide.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury today in the death of Joseph Metzger, 71 years old, a retired cigar maker, who wednesday night at the home of his nephew, Scott Cherry, 5816 De

Giverville avenue, with whom he lived.

Metzger was seated in a chair

with his head lying on a gas stove,

the burners of which were open but not lighted. He had been in ill health for about six years.

Cherry testified.

$25 Screw Driver Swindle.

MAURETANIA IN CRASH IN NEW YORK HARBOR

Cunard Liner Rams Float of 21 Freight Cars Drawn by Tug; Slightly Damaged.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—After a 24-hour delay due to a damaged bow caused by a collision with a car float in New York Harbor, the Cunard liner Mauretania was en route for Europe today.

The liner carried all passengers booked, except one woman who took advantage of the return to port to remain with a relative who had become ill. Many of the American passengers enjoyed a Thanksgiving day dinner ashore. The damage suffered by the liner one hour after it left here Wednesday midnight was repaired on its return to the pier yesterday. Several plates on the port bow were replaced and the new section was filled with cement.

Capt. S. G. S. McNeill, commander of the Mauretania, said he was going down the harbor on ebb tide when he sighted a float a quarter mile south of the Statue of Liberty and sounded one sharp blast.

"The tug," he said, "did not respond to my signal, and then I got two blasts from him indicating that he was continuing in his course across my path. It was too late to do anything, except save the tug as much as I could. We struck the railway float 10 feet from the stern."

The float, owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad and conveying 21 freight cars from Brooklyn to Jersey City, was cut in two by the crash and several cars were tossed into the water. The float was being towed by the tug Matawan.

Most of the 539 passengers aboard the Mauretania were unaware of the collision until their arrival at the pier when newsmen came aboard.

Among the passengers on the Mauretania were the four Russian aviators who flew the airplane "Land of the Soviets" from New York from Moscow and 15 American agricultural machinery experts bound for Russian under contract with the Soviet authorities to instruct Russian agriculturists in the use of the latest American farm machinery.

LONSDALE NAMES BANKERS TO CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

Meeting on Business Program Will Be Held Thursday at U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Four bankers, who will represent the eastern, northern, southern and western sections of the country in the business conference to be held by President Hoover's request in Washington next Thursday, have been named by John G. Lonsdale, St. Louis bank head, as president of the American Bankers' Association.

They are Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the board, Chase National Bank, New York; Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board, Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co., Chicago; John T. Scott, president First National Bank, Houston, and Hubert Fleischacker, president Anglo and London-Paris National Bank, San Francisco.

The conference, to be held at the headquarters of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was called by William Butterworth, president of the Chamber, and Julius H. Barnes, northern chairman, acting on a request of the President, as a part of his program for stabilization and stimulation of business conditions.

Dr. E. B. Cienfuegos, Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, who has returned from Washington, has declared his belief that the business situation has been relieved by the efforts of President Hoover. "It has been demonstrated that the country is fundamentally sound," he said, "and the big industries are going ahead and paying dividends to those who own their stock. The great losses have come to marginal traders."

POPE AND ITALY'S KING WILL MEET IN SECRET

Historic Conference Thursday at Vatican to Be Behind Closed Doors.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 29.—Near Thursday Pope Pius XI will receive King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy in the throne room of the Vatican. No one else will be present, and the doors of the throne room will be closed. It will be the first visit any King of Italy has made to any Pope.

To American tourists who visit the Vatican, the throne room is unknown. It is not on the list of the hundreds of rooms and salons which they are permitted to visit. It is not in the guide books. On the right, as one enters it, is the papal throne, a raised armchair, richly ornamented, standing beneath a square canopy of red velvet embroidered in gold. Around the room are a few gilded chairs, and several tables, with religious ornaments on them, stand against the wall.

Furnishings Few But Rich. The room is very simply furnished. It might almost be called bare, except that what furnishings there are are very rich.

The ceiling and upper walls are decorated with elaborate murals. The floor is covered by a Spanish carpet especially manufactured. It was presented to Pope Leo XIII. The approach to the throne room is through a series of beautiful rooms. The King and the Queen will first enter the magnificent Sala Clementina, a huge room with beautiful murals. Here a group of Swiss Guards is always on sentry duty at the entrance to the papal apartments.

From the Sala Clementina the King and the Queen will walk through the Sala Degli Arazzi, or Hall of the Tapestries. In this room hang three great Gobelins tapestries presented to the Pope by Louis XV of France.

Between the Sala Degli Arazzi and the throne room is a small room, in which the Noble Guard, composed of members of the papal nobility, has its post. This room leads to the Pope's private chapel.

The Private Library. Behind the throne room is the Pope's private library. Here the Pope receives privately. This is his working room.

Above these rooms are the Pope's living quarters. Below them are the rooms of the Cardinal Secretary of State.

When the King and the Queen enter the throne room they will find two chairs placed for them beside the throne. The King will take the one to the right, the Queen the one to the left. When the conversation begins the doors of the room will be closed. The attendants of the Pope and the attendants of the King will gather outside in the ante-chamber.

FALL FATAL TO CONFECTIONER WHO SAID ROBBER HIT HIM

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Death of George B. Owen, 5718 North Broadway.

Although George B. Owen, 64-year-old proprietor of a confectionery at 5718 North Broadway, told police before his death Tuesday night at city hospital from a fracture of the skull he had been struck on the head with a hammer by a robber Monday afternoon, a coroner's jury today found he was injured in an accidental fall. Owen reported he had been robbed of $13 by a man who asked for a can of tobacco as he was tacking a placard on the wall. The robber, whom he described to police, struck him on the head with the hammer after he had laid the tool on the counter, Owen said.

William W. Hoot, who occupies living quarters in the rear of the store and who called police, told the jury he had suggested to Owen that he "must have been robbed." Police Capt. Loepker testified presence of blood on the corner of a showcase and only upon the side of the hammer indicated Owen had fallen from a bin on which he had been standing, striking his head against the case. Persons who could view the door of the store at the time said they saw no one enter or leave the building.

TEXAN GETS DEATH SENTENCE FOR KILLING GIRL AND ESCORT

Luther Berwick Confessed He Shot Couple While Consumed With Jealousy.

By the Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Nov. 28.—Luther Berwick, confessed slayer of William Byrd, 21 years old, and Miss Belle Crowder, 18, at Port Arthur, Tex., recently, today was under sentence of death.

Berwick testified at his trial, which resulted in conviction last night, that he shot Byrd while crazed with jealousy, and that the girl was killed accidentally.

The shooting occurred in front of the girl's home, when she and Byrd were returning from an automobile ride.

EXPLAINS UNIFICATION STEPS FOR ST. LOUIS AND COUNTY

J. M. Rohan Points Out That Voters of Communities Must Approve Plan.

In a belief that there is some public confusion about the procedure to be followed in connection with the current endeavor to draft a plan of governmental unification of St. Louis and St. Louis County, James M. Rohan, president of the County Chamber of Commerce, has issued a statement pointing out that a local vote will be taken before the proposition can be adopted. The Chamber fought the 1924 scheme of outright annexation of the county.

Rohan said it would be necessary this time to have a State-wide vote on a constitutional amendment first, to give the city and county power to act locally on the plan. The Metropolitan Committee of the city and county Chambers of Commerce, which are sponsoring the movement, have agreed that the voters of the city and county, separately, then must approve the proposal before it can become effective. Rohan declared that the recommendation of the Metropolitan Committee would not be binding on the county Chamber, which will not approve any plan until authorized by a vote of its membership.

TOYLAND REFLECTS
AGE OF PUSH AND GOOnly Thing That's Old Style
This Year Is Santa Claus' Beard.

Toyland is no longer the land of make believe save for the old gentleman with white whiskers and a crimson coat who promises wide-eyed youngsters well filled stockings on Christmas morning if they will mind their mothers and tell old Santa what they want.

Toyland has gone constructive. Trains must run, model airplanes must fly, even the smallest toy must act like the thing it represents.

Little girls, too, demand doll dashes just like the ones that mother uses, down to a tiny percolator in which water will boil. Even the coddle of the dolls must be natural. The bob is passe among the dollies in St. Louis stores this year. Curls have come back. A few have braided hair. But most of the dolls, gay in pink, red, orange, blue and green dresses, resemble Mary Pickford before she bobbed her hair. Imported enamel cradles and go-carts are the newest in dolls' furnishings.

Dancing dolls, pirouetting from a string, vie with elaborate electric railway systems in attracting grown-ups as well as children. The old reliable Noah's Ark still retains its popularity but most of the toys reflect the deeds of airmen and the achievements of science. Chemistry outfits, weaving looms, tool chests, electric games, miniature pool tables, ping pong sets and other practical toys flank the dolls.

"It used to be enough to give a child a fire engine and a string to pull it," said one manager of a downtown toyland, as she turned a key at a diminutive fire alarm box and an electric engine dashed from its quarters, bell ringing.

"but now boys and girls demand models of the real thing. You can't fool them. They want things to work."

Rigid dirigibles, suspended by cords, while over models of hangars, beacons, landing fields, and other facilities of a modern airport. As many as 250 different types of planes can be built with some of the aircraft construction sets.

Steel planes that can be pedaled down the street, side car bicycles and miniature automobiles with big, loud horns appeal to the automatically inclined juveniles.

The little toy soldier still stands guard—but he wears the latest regulation field equipment, from trench helmet to boots. There are soldiers of all nations and not the least popular thus far have been the German troops.

Gundlach Estate Totals $150,000.

The estate of the late John P. Gundlach of Gundlach place, Belleville, is valued at $150,000. This valuation is based on a bond of $100,000 which Joseph E. Gundlach, a brother, filed when named administrator.

COAL OPERATOR KILLS WIFE AND SELF IN CHICAGO

Pair Found Slain in Hotel Suite Had Been Preparing for Thanksgiving Day Dinner.

(Special to the Post-Dispatch.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—James B. Pauley, chairman of the Board of the Miami Coal Co., shot and killed his wife and himself in their apartment in the Ambassador Hotel yesterday. Ill health and stock market losses were thought to have been the motives. Several notes found in the apartment indicated heavy losses in the stock market, but Pauley's friends assert he was not deeply involved and ascribed his act to insanity.

Pauley was 55 years old and was well known here, especially among dealers in coal and fuel. Mrs. Eleanor Ludlow Pauley was 53 and was a niece of former Governor Ara Bushnell of Ohio. In her teens she was once reported engaged to Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, hero of the Santiago naval campaign of 1898.

The pair had a Thanksgiving dinner engagement and the chauffeur was waiting at the hotel entrance with the Pauley car. After a long time he asked the bell boy to go to the Pauley apartment on the fifteenth floor and learn the cause of the delay.

The boy could arouse no one by knocking. He entered with a master key. On the floor in the center of the living room he saw Pauley, with a revolver near his right hand. He was dressed in a lounging jacket. Mrs. Pauley was sitting in a rocking chair, dead.

Coroner's Version. Coroner Bundesen said it was undoubtedly murder and suicide. Mrs. Pauley appeared to have been surprised, as a magazine with a crossword puzzle she had been working on had slipped to her feet. Beside her on a table was a memorandum of "stock transactions of Eleanor Pauley." It noted sales of various stocks through local brokers.

A notation of transactions in various stocks was found in Pauley's bedroom, but the securities were of small companies not listed on the New York Stock Exchange. One bank book showed a balance of only $32.25.

Pauley had memberships in various clubs. His friends had not noted any change in his manner recently. John T. Conner, president of the Miami Coal Co., who is confined to his bed, said: "I cannot understand this trouble. Pauley I have known many years. He was a splendid executive and popular. I know Mrs. Pauley as well. I never connected him with the desperate work this shooting shows."

Shot on Sudden Impulse. There was nothing, however, to indicate that murder and suicide had been contemplated, and police today were still trying to find out what particular incident prompted Pauley to act just at the time the pair were preparing to attend a Thanksgiving day dinner at the home of friends.

Pauley's physician said Pauley was seriously ill several months ago. The doctor did not believe, however, that the present state of Pauley's health was such as to lead him to seek relief by death.

Friends of Pauley said they did not believe he was wealthy. They spoke of him as well to do, with a large salary income. Pauley had been prominent in the coal mining industry for many years and until a few years ago was a director of the Deering Coal Co. He was an executor of the $2,000,000 estate of the late James K. Deering.

MAKES FORTUNE IN SIX YEARS, RETIRES AND WEDS SECRETARY

Jonathan C. Stimson, 31, Sells Traffic Signal and Auto Tail Light Patents.

After a business career which started six years ago when he left college, Jonathan C. Stimson, inventor of a reflector for traffic and railroad signals, has sold his patents and business for a substantial amount, married his secretary and started on a honeymoon tour. He is 31 years old.

The purchaser of his business was the American Gas Accumulator Co. of Elizabeth, N. J., which now operates his Stimson Reflector Co., 212 Morgan street. Besides his signal reflector, Stimson also invented an automobile tail light which found almost as ready a market as his first traffic signal.

His secretary was Miss Viola E. Harts, daughter of Herman Harts, a policeman, 2212 St. Louis avenue. They were married Nov. 26 and are now visiting in Philadelphia. Stimson is a St. Louisan and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He formerly lived at 664 Washington avenue, University City.

Hamtramck (Mich.) Mayor Missing By the Associated Press. SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 29.—Authorities here today were asked to search for Dr. Rudolph Tenerowicz, mayor of Hamtramck, a Detroit suburb, who has been missing since Nov. 12 when he went north to join a deer hunting party in the upper peninsula of Michigan. The request was made after others in the party returned here from the camp and learned that Dr. Tenerowicz who had failed to join them, had left his home in Hamtramck for that purpose.

FILIPINO MUSICIAN LOSES

LIFE IN KANSAS CITY FIRE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 29.—A fire at the Holland House, downtown apartment hotel, early yesterday, caused the death of one man and injuries to several others.

Vincent Fondevilla, 33 years old, a Filipino musician with an act playing at a Kansas City theater, was suffocated. His body was found by firemen in one of the halls. Several other persons in the building were burned slightly or injured when they leaped to the ground from windows.

The fire was discovered by a guest in the building at 4:30 a. m. Other residents were quickly awakened and an alarm turned in. More than a dozen taxicab drivers assisted in carrying persons to safety down the ladders.

Fondevilla ventured into a smoke-filled hallway, evidently seeking a fire escape. His body was found after the fire was extinguished. The building contained no exterior fire escapes.

Berlin Editors Fined for Libel

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Accusing a fellow editor of "abominable thoughtfulness and shocking untruthfulness," cost the editors of the Deutsche Richterzeitung fines of $72 each today. Both the defendants, Herrens Reichert and Beyer, formerly were connected with the Federal Supreme Court. Reichert was president of the Court Senate and Beyer was a former Judge of the Tribunal. The man whom they were convicted of libeling was Leopold Schwarzschild, publisher of Montag Morgen. The article to which the two judges took exception was in criticism of a death sentence in a murder trial.

FUNERAL OF DR. MANLY OF STATE UNIVERSITY

Services at Warrensburg Tomorrow for "Father of School's Athletics."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 29.—Funeral services for Dr. William Gwathmey Manly, "father of athletics" at the University of Missouri, who died here Wednesday, will be held at Warrensburg tomorrow afternoon. As professor of Greek language and literature he was the oldest member, in point of service, of the faculty. He had been a leader in the administration of athletics in the Middle West since 1890. He was 67 years old.

Dr. Manly was stricken with a heart attack while playing golf at the Columbia Country Club and died later in the university hospital.

Following his graduation from Harvard, he went to the University of Missouri as a full professor and chairman of the Greek department.

His father was president of Louisville College and his grandfather headed the University of Alabama. He was born in Greenville, S. C., on April 12, 1862, was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholar fraternity, and of the "Isonas." On Aug. 30, 1911, he married Miss Blanche Jordan of Columbia, who survives.

There also are three brothers and two sisters. Col. J. C. Manly, Medical Corps, United States Army, Fort Benning, Ga.; C. F. Manly, Greenville, S. C.; George Manly, Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. Lizzie M. Parks and Miss Louise F. Manly, both of Greenville, S. C.

Highway Engineer Hurt in Crash. BROWNING, Mo., Nov. 29.—L. H. Sanderson, highway engineer, was seriously hurt when his car hit Dr. D. O. Brownback's car three miles north of Purdin. Both cars were wrecked. Dr. Brownback's hand was injured.

NIGHT MARSHAL CHARGED WITH ROBBERY SAFE AT STORE

Perryville Officer Had Been Given Keys in Order to Protect Place.
Special to the Post-Dispatch
PERRYVILLE, Mo., Nov. 29.—George Herron, night marshal and private watchman, was arrested yesterday on a charge of thefts from the safe of the Rozier Mercantile Co., over a period of several months.

Herron was arrested by Deputy Sheriff, who had in the store and reported they saw Herron open the safe. Sums ranging from $5 to $20 had been reported stolen by officials of the concern. Herron had been supplied with a duplicate key to the store that he might guard the place. Suspicion was directed toward him when the thefts continued.

He is believed to have learned the combination of the safe by accident. Herron is 50 years old, and has a wife and three grown children. He is held in jail in default of bail.

NON-PATENTED PAVING FOR TWO MORE STREETS

Public Service Board Figures Saving of $13,246 on $128,088 Contract for 1930.

Non-patented sheet asphalt was specified by the Board of Public Service today for improvement of two streets included in the 1930 program. The estimated cost is $128,088, compared with $142,046 for patented types of paving—a saving of $13,246 to the property owners who will be assessed. The Bureau of Municipal Research had conducted a campaign against noncompetitive use of the patented types, Warrentite and Amiesite asserting that they do not have extra wear to justify the higher cost. Except for one group of six projects for which patented surfacing was specified, the board has decided in favor of sheet asphalt for all asphalt paving so far in next year's program. The only explanation advanced by the board for today's decision was that sheet asphalt was considered best in view of the type of thoroughfares involved and the varying estimates of costs.

The two streets considered today are to be improved in six projects, including the estimated costs, are: January avenue, Eichelberger to Nottingham, sheet asphalt, $36,470, patented, $37,950; January, Nottingham to Bancroft, sheet asphalt, $29,360, patented, $30,840; Kennerly avenue, Sarah to Whittier, sheet asphalt, $34,850, patented, $36,330; Kennerly, Whittier to Lambdin, sheet asphalt, $14,630, patented, $16,110; Kennerly, Lambdin to Taylor, sheet asphalt, $22,790, patented, $24,270; Kennerly, Taylor to Marcus, sheet asphalt, $17,070, patented, $18,550.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER SUE BY ITALIAN COUNT SHE JILTED

Member of Hollywood Colony Says Heart Is Beyond Repair; Wants Gifts Back.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Count Leon Bayard de Volo, son of the lady in waiting to Italy's Queen and a sculptor and artist in the Hollywood motion picture colony, today sued Miss Laura Langhauser, Huntington Park, Cal., Sunday school teacher, for breach of promise.

The Count, who attributed the rupture of his romance to "another man," asked the return of gifts valued at $2000, which he said he has given to Miss Langhauser since their secret engagement two years ago.

"My broken heart never can be mended," the Count said. "I do not ask for balm in the way of money. In my suit I am only calling upon the court to give me back what I believe to be mine." The nobleman met Miss Langhauser during the fatal illness of his wife several years ago. He said they became engaged two years ago and planned marriage. Later, he said, an unnamed man entered his fiancée's life and since then she has not received him.

MILKMAN FIGHTS FOR RIGHT TO DELIVER WARES BEFORE DAWN

New York Supreme Court to Decide Validity of Yonkers' 8 A. M.—8 P. M. Ordinance.

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 29.—The State Supreme Court has been called upon to decide whether, under the constitution of New York, it is a milkman's inalienable right to deliver his wares at dawn. Recently the Yonkers City Council passed an ordinance, at the instance of the Board of Health, providing that milk deliveries from Nov. 1 to April 1 should be made only between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. The board pointed out that milk left on the doorstep freezes, pushes up the bottle cap and exposes the contents to germs and neighborhood cats. Arthur Johnson was arrested early this week and fined $10 and costs for delivering before sun up. His company, contending that the ordinance was unconstitutional, took the matter to the Supreme Court and today Justice Taylor enjoined the police from further interference until a final decision is given.

FORMER ACTRESS GETS DIVORCE

Norma Phillips Obtains Decree From R. F. Gleckler.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 29.—A divorce has been granted to Mrs. Mary Norma Gleckler, who several years ago was a motion picture actress under the name of Norma Phillips. Her husband was Robert F. Gleckler.

Gleckler is an actor of the stage and screen, having played the extortionist in "Broadway" and later appeared as Wick Snell, newspaper man in the film version of "Gentlemen of the Press." The decree was granted on Mrs. Gleckler's charge that her husband had deserted her in 1926. They were married in 1920.

30 YEARS FOR FOUR KILLERS OF ILLINOIS BANK WATCHMAN

Robbers of Mansfield Depository Convicted by Jury at Monticello.

By the Associated Press.
MONTICELLO, Ill., Nov. 29.—Four men were convicted by a jury today of the murder of Frank Hilligoss, night watchman, who was shot during the robbery of the Mansfield State Bank Jan. 19, 1925.

The defendants were Vincent Moran and George Tuller, Decatur; Albert Phillips, Champaign; and Oscar Schoby, a convict in Chester penitentiary. Each was sentenced to 30 years.

Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 29.—

A presentation yesterday by Senator William R. Painter of Carrollton of shocking conditions in the Missouri penitentiary in Jef-ferison City and the Missouri reformatory for boys in Boonville resulted in recommendations by the State Survey Commission to

Gov. Caulfield for the expenditure of $3,500,000 on the two institutions. This would make possible the correction of evils which, the Senator said, under present conditions could be little improved by even the most efficient management.

The Senator laid before the Commission fact after fact developed in his investigation of the penal institutions, and supported by reports of independent investigations by the wardens of the Minneapolis and Ohio penitentiaries.

Much of the evidence was of a nature that makes impossible its publication in a newspaper, but of the evils outlined were directly traceable to the crowded conditions of the institution, due to the failure of the Legislature to provide funds for additional cell buildings.

Seven Men in One Cell.

Instances of as many as seven convicts sleeping in one cell of masonry construction, having only one small window were cited, these being found in one cell building in which the average of the number of occupants of each of the cells is more than six.

The members of the survey commission were told such a condition was a breeder of immorality and crime, and that with men discharged after living under such conditions it was not surprising that there was a consistent increase in crime.

The crowding of convicts together was said to be dangerous in the extreme from the standpoint of safety of the prison officials, the residents of the neighborhoods ad-

acent to the prison and the prison

officials, and resulted in many men contracting diseases and vicious habits which could not help but have a dangerous effect on the communities to which they went after release. As has been told, the Missouri penitentiary, built to house slightly more than 2000 con-vikts, now houses more than 4000.

Senator Painter repeated these figures to the commission.

Source of Discontent.

"This condition makes it easy for convicts to plot insurrections," he said. "Other prisons with less crowding have had serious riots.

If one should start in the Missouri prison, there undoubtedly would be a very considerable loss of life

among both prison officials and convicts. It is conceivable that under such conditions the riot should not be confined within the walls of the prison, and that it might for a time get beyond all control and endanger lives of persons on the outside.

"Of course, no insurrection could be successful to the point of releasing a large number of con-vikts and any riot would be put down rather speedily, but it would only be at the loss of life.

"For its own protection, Mis-sour must provide living conditions in its prison which will mean that a convict upon release will be in as good or better health than when he entered the prison. A man leaving the prison suffering from tuberculosis and from some other dread disease is a menace to hundreds or perhaps thousands of right living people among whom he will go. Aside from the question of humanity to the convicts themselves the State should protect its citizenship at large.

No Criticism of Management.

There was nothing in the report containing any criticism of the management of the prison, the Senator attributing the faults he found to the bad housing conditions which no administration could

State Insurance and Self-Insurers.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A STATEMENT is current that in the event Missouri provides itself with its own workmen's compensation insurance, not only will private insurance companies be prevented from competing with the State, but those Missouri industries which are financially able, and are presently carrying their own workmen's compensation insurance, will not be allowed to do so any longer. They will be compelled to take out State insurance with the rest.

So that present self-insurers may be definitely informed, I think that some spokesman with authority for the Missouri Federation of Labor, which is sponsoring this movement, should clearly indicate whether this law to be advocated by them, will or will not provide against reliable Missouri industries continuing to carry their own insurance.

It might also be apropos for this spokesman to enumerate which of the states requiring state compensation insurance permit industries to self-insure and which do not.

Dr. Wigram Arrouses Her Ire.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I KNOW I have not the vocabulary or education to answer Dr. Edward A. Wigram's speech in Dallas on eugenics, but I am so mad.

This is not the first of his articles I have read. He has written books in the same vein. Since I have wasted time and precious eyesight reading his stuff, I wish I had the words to say what I think of his beliefs.

Not all of us are ready to admit that the "Mayflower" pilgrims inherit the earth. If they do they had better get robots to work it. Who does all the dirty, dangerous, monotonous work in this world if not the unconsidered millions? Our impetuous, our feeble-minded, etc., are the price we pay, and cheap at the price, too.

If Dr. Wigram could only spare the time he takes to worry about the future of the race, he should read the "unfit" and "incompetent," he should read Prof. Dorsey's late book and get some much better rats than I can give him.

Broken Republican Promises.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Republicans have again refused to do what they promised to do. At the close of the World War, when the Republicans came in control of the Government, they passed a tariff law which they knew would give the Eastern industries an advantage over the farmers. In every platform they have written since that time they have promised to give the farmers economic equality. But as soon as they are elected they refuse to keep their promise.

Within the last few weeks it has been clearly shown why they will not keep their promise. Grundy and his huge campaign donation is the answer to the whole thing. The farmers, unorganized as they now are, have no cash value but the farmers well organized may have a greater cash value than the industries. If 35 per cent of the farmers can be organized into a strong national organization and each member can be assessed one dollar, this will make a pot of about $10,000,000 which the organization can pay to the Government for a square deal. I think $10,000,000 would buy all of the interest the Republican party has in the Government.

A few Western Republican Senators and the Democrats have been trying to keep their promise. But the representatives of the well-organized Eastern industries which are trying to earn their money have called these honest Senators "sons of wild jackasses." We have one Senator from Missouri who has never been called a "son of a wild jackass." The people have no influence in the national convention, but that is all right, since the politicians will nominate a man who will do the right thing if there is enough money in the pot. The farmers now know what they must do. They must either put up the money or change their faith.

Mr. Kelker and Service Cars.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I FEEL that I should write you in regard to the report of Mr. Kelker on the transit situation in St. Louis. I am a regular user of the service cars and note from his report that they should be abolished. Mr. Kelker is consistent in one thing. He states he is not in favor of rapid transit in St. Louis. Furtherance of this recommendation he desires to see the only means of rapid transportation in St. Louis removed. Any one who has ridden in a service car knows that they save a passenger from one-half to three-quarters of the time consumed in traveling from any point in the city to any other point over any other means of travel.

Many of the people who ride service cars if they did not have this means of travel at their disposal would drive their own cars. I am not a high-priced traffic consultant, but it strikes me that if this occurred the additional cars coming into the congested district would cause a far greater traffic problem than service cars.

SERVICE CAR PASSENGER.

WHAT DEBAUCHED CHICAGO?

John Hay, American statesman, said that Chicago is the most American thing about America. William T. Stead, the British publicist, said that hell is but a pocket edition of Chicago.

That Chicago is the most lawless city in the United States is not seriously denied by anybody. Chicago politics, gang wars, massacres, murders, etc., top the list for great American cities, all of them bad by comparison with the big cities of Europe. Only some of the Southern cities with large colored populations lead Chicago in the dubious pastime of taking human life. Chicago invented racketeering. Perhaps the shooting of seven men in a garage on an afternoon when another gang of bootleggers swept down and perpetrated this bloody crime best characterizes in the country's mind the situation in Chicago. If that one-sided battle has a rival in the national consciousness it is the incredible real and nonsensical hullabaloo with which Mayor Thompson made war in the public schools upon King George.

Prof. Charles Edward Merriam, after 30 years' active participation in the public life of Chicago, a former member of the City Council, twice defeated for Mayor himself, and confidant of Mayor Dever, has written a book in which he tells what in his opinion brought Chicago to its present plight. According to Prof. Merriam, the same thing that happened to the United States Government during the Harding administration happened in a larger degree to Chicago. That is, the coarse philosophy of materialism, in which every man condoned the other fellow's racket to preserve his own, brought Chicago at last to a pass at which the city government was no better than these various rackets. That there was no articulate voice anywhere insistent for good government and public decency is in his judgment what brought the city at length to the level of the Collino-Torrio-Genna-Capone gang and the O'Bannon-Weiss-Drucci-Moran outfit, which fought for the bootlegging business. All the others fought for some other business. Even that free press which Jefferson had believed would keep all secure as long as the people could read became, according to Prof. Merriam, impotent. It was in the heyday of this debauchery that United States Senator Deneen of Illinois felt it necessary to leave Washington for Chicago to attend the funeral of "Diamond Joe" Esposito. Between the public utility magnates, the magnates of prostitution, and the magnates of rum, the morals of Chicago became such that Paul H. Douglas says in reviewing Prof. Merriam's book for the Nation:

Even the so-called "respectable" people are so deeply enmeshed in corruption that there is little vital interest in good government on the part of the wealthy and the powerful. To make the task more difficult, there is a wide division in the fundamental economic and political philosophy of those who do want to remedy the situation. Most of the honest business group, for example, would oppose any candidate, however honorable and efficient, who favored municipal ownership, while the labor group would defeat any candidate who was too openly a member of the so-called "elite." As if all this were not enough, three red herrings always lie across the trail of those who want decent government: namely, the liquor question, religion and race. These divisions give rise to an almost endless series of possible political combinations, and have in part prevented any compact group such as Tammany in New York or the Vars machine in Philadelphia from completely dominating the city. All this makes the pattern of the political mosaic at once unstable and fascinating. The unstable nature of the political factions in turn permits the independent to exercise some influence in combining with the least bad of the groups. The result generally, however, is that the officials whom the independents thus help to elect make their peace with the corruptors and life goes on much as before.

It is a lesson to all the big American cities. Indeed, it is a lesson to the country itself. Plato said: "Ruin follows when the trader rules." The trader, that is the man whose only motive is to make money, captured Chicago. He made the money—but see what he also made of Chicago!

HONDURAS JOINS THE PEACE MOVEMENT.

Mexico recently decided to add no more Generals to her army, and that was a great forward step. Honduras, however, has done more for the cause of peace by turning her warriors into road builders. That country has a super abundance of military geniuses born to command, each ready to spring to the saddle at his nation's faintest whisper. As military emergencies became fewer, these Generals had to keep in training somehow, so home-made wars began to blossom. To find appropriate employment for these master minds, the Government has put them to building highways, which Honduras needs more just now than she needs conquests or insurrections. Bossing a road gang all day is proving quite sufficient to sublimate the ambitions of the soldiery, and Gen. Francisco Valladares finds it just as satisfying to best Gen. Ricardo Lardizabal at laying macadam as at sniping from ambush.

Other nations might follow this example to good advantage. This country, for instance, could use a few more good roads, too. President Hoover already has delivered a hint showing that he knows about the wise Honduran policy in his statement about the waterways program costing half the price of a battleship. Perhaps he is preparing to have the Admirals dig some canals and then dredge a few rivers.

Someone should tell our new weather man that winter is not supposed to begin in St. Louis until about Jan. 1.

CLARIFYING THE TAX PLAN.

In abandoning the proposed nuisance taxes against tobacco, amusements and beverages the State Survey Commission, which is devising more revenue for Missouri, has ridden its plan of a feature which might easily have destroyed it.

The commission has decided that the present sources of taxation are sufficient to increase the revenue of the State by the approximately $16,000,000 a year needed to make Missouri a modern commonwealth, which will not greatly surprise all those who have been observing its deliberations. Fantastic taxes have had a sufficient demonstration in St. Louis to warn the State against them. There is a science of taxation, and by inviting in persons like Mr. Zangerle of Cleveland, we are learning something about it. The State taxes property, corporations and incomes. Presumably it attempts to equalize the burden of government according to the taxpayer's fortunes. If it will adhere to that simple principle, and make everybody, whether in or out of the cities, pay his or her just share, there will be no necessity to resort to taxes against theater tickets, cigarettes, wedding presents, Christmas gifts, divorces, bachelors, old maids, or any and all such.

This danger seems to have been averted. Gov. Canfield is against it, as we thought he would be. So much for fantasy. Now for equity.

STATUS OF THE LIQUOR BUYER.

The conflict of opinion among the inferior Federal courts on the question of the guilt of a purchaser of intoxicating liquor from a bootlegger, under the Volstead act, exhibits unfamiliarity with or a refusal to accept a very definite expression of opinion by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of U. S. vs. Holte, decided in 1915.

In that case, arising under the Mann act, the court held by a divided opinion that the woman, whose protection as a victim was contemplated, could herself be guilty of conspiracy to cause her own transportation in interstate commerce. But, said Justice Holmes, in the majority opinion:

We will assume that there may be a degree of co-operation that would not amount to a crime, so where it was held that a purchase of spirituous liquor from an unlicensed vendor was not a crime in the purchaser, although it was in the seller.

And Justice Holmes cited the case of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts vs. Willard, 22 Pickering, 475, in approval.

In the dissenting opinion in the Holte case, Justice Lamar said, with the concurrence of Justice Day:

So, too, a person who knowingly purchases liquor from one unauthorized to sell it is not guilty of a criminal offense and is not an accomplice.

Then, quoting from the same case of Commonwealth vs. Willard, cited by Justice Holmes in the majority opinion, he said:

Every sale implies a purchaser; there must be a purchaser as well as a seller, and there must have been known and understood by the legislature. Now, if it were intended that the purchaser should be subject to any penalty, it is to be presumed that it would have been declared in the statute, either by imposing a penalty upon the buyer in terms or by extending the penal consequences of the prohibited act to all persons aiding, counseling or encouraging the principal offender. There being no such provision in the statute, there is a strong implication that none such was intended by the Legislature.

While this discussion was collateral and the Holte case not directly in point, the opinion of the Supreme Court on the question is so definite as to warrant the view that it is settled.

Dr. Waldemar Schweissheimer, German physician, says love is only a disease. If so, his name ought to describe it.

"THE LOWEST DEPTH."

Prof. Rogers of "Boston Tech," who attracted attention last June with his snob formula for success, now steps forward to say that "bridge playing is the lowest depth to which the human being can fall." That judgment strikes us as somewhat severe. Our demurrer, however, should not be misconstrued as a defense of this wretched game. There can be no question that bridge is among our ghastliest vices. Whatever shred of manners may have been bequeathed us by our pioneer forefathers has been pretty well demolished at the bridge table. There one sees the proverbial "perfect gentleman" behave like an anthropoid ape and there, too, the "ministering angel" has been known to be petulant, not to say irritable. But to place bridge as the ultima thule, the ne plus ultra, of degradation is, as we have intimated, a bit thick. One feels that Prof. Rogers' education has been neglected. One knows, at any rate, from his anti-bridge pronouncement that the distinguished pedagogue has never listened in on the pre-war ginger ale symposium of any group of nineteenth-hole golfers.

Thanksgiving went off as usual, Washington winning from St. Louis and Webster giving Kirkwood its annual beating.

THE VANISHING STREET CAR.

Wiesbaden, famous German health resort city, population 90,000, scrapped its street car system last April and substituted motor buses. Although the minimum fare is 15 pfennigs (about 4 cents), cheaper by 5 pfennigs than the fare in the neighboring cities of Frankfurt and Mainz, the first six months of operation shows a net profit of approximately $50,000. In addition to other superlatives, the Wiesbaden bus line has a total length more than twice that of the junked street car system.

Wiesbaden, like Wolverhampton, England, and other medium-sized cities, is writing new transportation history. Because of the smaller volume of passengers, it is relatively simple for cities of 200,000 or less to take the step that may sooner or later be taken by larger cities—that is, to remove from crowded street traffic running on fixed rails. As Le Corbusier, the French architect, points out, "The surface car has no right to exist in the heart of the modern city." There simply isn't room for it.

As Knute Rockne says, it looks as if winter had taken Indian summer.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

In this day of vast enterprises of every kind, it is good occasionally to turn back the pages of the years and look at the humble beginnings of things. The Children's Hospital, now an important part of St. Louis' imposing hospital group, has just done this. Fifty years of humanitarian work were reviewed, and the hospital has dedicated itself anew to its constructive service in the community.

In 1879 the hospital was opened in a two-story building at 2334 Franklin avenue, with 15 patients in charge of one matron. Now it has facilities for 143 children in its main building, and can care for 60 others at its 127-acre farm on the Meramec River. In addition it operates a dispensary, does social service work and provides instruction in infant welfare. Of its 2352 patients last year, 60 per cent received free service.

Three of the hospital's founders were present at the fiftieth anniversary observance. They can look back on an enviable record of public beneficence, with promise of 50 and more fruitful years to come.

Seems to us that Byrd set out for the South Pole at a moment when it makes mighty cold reading.

All that remains between Notre Dame and the national football championship is the United States Army.

GOOD RIDDANCE.

Passing of the Old United States

This is no longer the country of Franklin or Lincoln, says Chicago University history professor; our flag rarely thought of as symbolizing revolution; ideals of founding fathers have been lost and forgotten; evolution worked by wars and reaction, culminating in the complaisant Harding, who ushered in the regime now in power.

William E. Dodd in Century Quarterly.

THE United States of the fathers has passed away. These idealistic leaders of a struggling democracy thought, like the Russians of our day, to set up a new social regime, a country in which lands were as good as free, into which the poor and the dispossessed of every nation were invited, where free trade with all the world was asserted as a fundamental right, where free speech was never to be abridged and where one's religion or want of it was never to be a subject of legislative, judicial or social reproach. Freedom and liberty: personal independence and social equality were ideas of daily assertion and common practice. The world liberty has no popular meaning today; and the flag of the United States is rarely thought of as covering agitation and revolution.

How has the change been wrought? The greatest single cause has been war. The long struggle in Europe following the French revolution drew young America into its current. Prices of farm and forest products soared until every American seemed rich. Suddenly the war closed, Napoleon was exiled and prices fell below all known precedents. Cotton and tobacco growers, plantations and slaves about them, were hard pressed to find means of support. Thousands migrated to the new lands of the West. Those who remained at home made out for State assistance; banks, canals and roads. The manufacturers must have a tariff against imports and a monopoly of the growing American market. While the States could not give permanent relief to planters and farmers, the old United States did give relief to manufacturers.

When the Civil War closed and Lincoln was dead, the new financiers, industrialists and masters of transportation were powerful. There were now thousands of millionaires where there had been thousands of slaveholders; and they or their agents exercised almost undisputed control over the party of Lincoln from 1858 to the Roosevelt break in 1912. Thus the second great step in the American evolution took the Republic still further from the ideals and status of Franklin and Jefferson.

William McKinley, gentle and ill-informed, took the lead in a new epoch. He entered into war with Spain. Before its close, he took American business men upon a high mountain; there they saw the kingdoms of this world; wide stretches of Mexico which might be exploited, the distant Philippines on the other side of the world and Hawaii knocking the white at the door of the Nation. It was the new United States. Men talked of colonies and dependencies and looked stupid when reminded of the Declaration of Independence.

It was the day of Theodore Roosevelt and a ritual prosperity, constant talk of big sticks in diplomacy, of the payment of inflated debts and the maintenance of order. The old Monroe Doctrine, invented as a shield for weak Latin-American nations, became the cover and justification of the new imperialism. The Panama Canal was built. With the canal as a possession the neighboring Nicaragua had to be held tight; some body else build a rival canal. Once entered upon the role of economic exploitation and the owner of distant possessions, it was absolutely necessary to build and maintain a great navy. The next thing would be a great army.

After an exciting, if not bitter, campaign, a professor of political science at Princeton became President. It was an event; the new leader talked of a new day. He meant an old day. The schoolmaster rediscovered the Declaration of Independence. He quoted speeches and phrases from the early masters; he did not forget the Sermon on the Mount. Liberty and free speech, free trade, international good-will and no standing armies were slogans which he could not forget. But it's a long step from ideals to execution.

After long hesitation, a great deal of speech-making about self-determination and the need of a more Christian civilization, Wilson entered the war. When the die was cast, there was no other course but to make the world safe for democracy. The influence of a single man sufficed to mar the program—Col. Roosevelt, who was hardly able to contemplate quietly another President. Wilson was a hypocrite and a man in the President's office, least of all a schoolmaster and a representative of the old South, the old United States. He spoke in anger and with increasing hatred of the President. Wilson was a hypocrite and a phrase-maker. Tens of thousands heard him in the great cities of his proper terrain. The President lost.

Congress set up in December, 1918, against the only man who could constitutionally negotiate peace. Having lost his own country, Wilson appealed to the peoples of Europe against their governments! He was willing to give up the precious Monroe Doctrine; and he thought Frenchmen would give up their age-old Rhine boundary claim. The battle opened in Paris. Before the winter was over the hope of a great American peace was gone. The peace that was signed at Versailles was not a Wilson peace.

In the convention which nominated Warren Gamaliel Harding, there were scores of the great of earth who had been dreadfully scared the last four years. The nominee knew well what such men wanted. He was innocent of statecraft and may no possible harm in tariffs that might prevent Europe from paying its debts; he was willing for Mr. Doheny to take the Navy's petroleum; he had no thought of curbing old diplomacy or of moderating the trade demands of his country anywhere in the world. It was the new United States. The last thing men thought of was free trade, absence of standing armies, equal chances in world markets for farmers, abandonment of the Philippines or submitting Mexico's affairs to Mexico. It was the end of the regime when states had been important, when individuals shouted "liberty" or read the Declaration of Independence in good faith.

AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AMERICA. Edited by Mark Van Doren. (A. and C. Bon.)

THE notion behind this book," say Mark Van Doren, its editor, "was that the history of America lay already written in pages which individual Americans had handed down about themselves, and that this history was best when the individuals were least 'historical'—least conscious, in other words, that they were playing roles or making contributions or revealing tendencies."

This was rather more than a "notion," as the book itself will demonstrate; it was a brilliant idea. If history be conceived as a record of changing social moods, which it may be, essentially, for surely there is a large element of truth in the theory that the chief actors of the human tragedy are more often the creatures than the creators of social trends—if they are not always so. This principle is to be noted not only in the lives of men of action, but even in the theorizing of abstract thinkers who are supposed to lead. Right now it seems to be very much in evidence among those thinkers who enjoy the most imposing reputations. Is it not fairly clear that many of them, whether conscious of the fact or not, are rationalizing the already prevalent mood of the world?

To suggest an even more subtle relation between the prevailing social atmosphere and even the most abstract scientific conceptions that develop therein, it may be asked if any significance attaches to the fact that the theory of relativity was developed in a time when old social forms and standards were disintegrating. A long list of strikingly curious correspondences of the sort, in all fields of contemporary thought from psychology to physics and astronomy, could be set down with little effort, and in every case it could be shown that the theory emerged only when the corresponding social mood was already well pronounced.

Far from being only a figure of speech, the "zeitgeist" may be the fundamental reality of history—the apparent leaders being led unconsciously by it. A pessimist might contend that this is why the human race blunders into one ghastly tragedy after another, accepting its potential leaders only in retrospect when the social mood in which they were rejected has given way to a different one. Perhaps equally foolish one. But the pessimist could hardly be expected to tell us how the genuine leader might be recognized.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

A Good Show—and More

AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AMERICA. Edited by Mark Van Doren. (A. and C. Boni.)

"THE notion behind this book," says Mark Van Doren, its editor, "was that the history of America lay already written in pages which individual Americans had handed down about themselves, and that this history was best when the individuals were least 'historical'—least conscious, in other words, that they were playing roles or making contributions or revealing tendencies."

This was rather more than a "notion," as the book itself will demonstrate; it was a brilliant idea, if history be conceived as a record of changing social moods, which it may be, essentially; for surely there is a large element of truth in the theory that the chief actors of the human tragedy-comedy are more often the creatures than the creators of social trends—if they are not always so. This principle is to be noted not only in the lives of men of action, but even in the theorizing of abstract thinkers who are supposed to lead. Right now it seems to be very much in evidence among those thinkers who enjoy the most imposing reputations. Is it not fairly clear that many of them, whether conscious of the fact or not, are rationalizing the already prevalent mood of the world? To suggest an even more subtle relation between the prevailing social atmosphere and even the most abstruse scientific conceptions that develop therein, it may be asked if any significance attaches to the fact that the theory of relativity was developed in a time when old social forms and standards were disintegrating. A long list of strikingly curious correspondences of the sort, in all fields of contemporary thought from psychology to physics and astronomy, could be set down with little effort; and in every case it could be shown that the theory emerged only when the corresponding social mood was already well pronounced.

Far from being only a figure of speech, the "zeitgeist" may be the fundamental reality of history—the apparent leaders being led unconsciously by it. A pessimist might contend that this is why the human race blunders into one ghastly tragedy after another, accepting its potential leaders only in retrospect when the social mood in which they were rejected has given way to a different and perhaps equally foolish one. But the pessimist could hardly be expected to tell us how the genuine leader might be recognized. In keeping with the temper of our own day, the play is the thing in Mr. Van Doren's book; and he puts on an excellent show indeed—one with vital meaning in it too. Beginning with the founding of Jamestown and ending today, he has chosen 84 generous extracts from autobiographical writings, produced in the majority of cases without literary pretensions, often by obscure individuals, such being the most likely to express unconsciously the outlook of the locality, class and time in which they lived. Entertaining quality, however, was one of the editor's chief considerations in making his selections.

The material is arranged in 19 sections under the following captions: Foothold on the Eastern Shore, The Colonial Scene, Revolution, The Generation of the Fathers, Democracy and Trade Unions, Beyond the Mississippi, White and Black, Civil War and Reconstruction, The Silver Age.

The varied richness of the intensely human material that is so abundantly epitomized in this volume, as follows: "Still I don't pay 'em no min' 'cause women can beat men double-crossin'—jes' won't be straight. Always do something crooked in spite of everything. Last week I seen man locked out his house by woman. He come whoopin' and hollerin' and cryin' like a baby, sayin' if she don't let him in he gonna kill her. Well, I'd ship that woman. Fool man standin' outside blubberin' like a little baby. She jes' do him anyway. I'd break her damn neck if I was agoin' with her. I'd put that thing on her an' she wouldn't monkey with me but once."

It is a pleasure to state that nothing else of the sort is to be found in the book; but if Mr. Van Doren was not enjoying a bit of irony when he decided upon this chapter, can it be that he was justified in view of his scheme as stated? One hopes not; but "Rainbow Round My Shoulder" made quite a hit.

VISITING IN EAST

MISS HELEN FRAMPTON.

JOY OF LIFE IN ART OF DUNCAN DANCERS

Troupe at Best in Russian Folk Songs—House Small but Enthusiastic.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN. THE joy of life was never more adequately epitomized than in the artless choreography of the Isadora Duncan dancers who gave a recital at the Odeon Wednesday night. Most of these dancers are still nothing more than children and though they have obviously been thoroughly trained in the use of their bodies, the vivid and affecting impressions of beauty that they stamp upon one's mind, are the effect of what seems to be a spontaneous activity.

The program was divided into three groups. The first was composed of dances performed in the style made famous by Isadora herself. That is to say that the aim and end of the individual movements and the compositions formed by the whole group, rather than dancing virtuosity. The second group was more classical in its atmosphere. But it was in the third group that these dancers proved most effective. This group was made up of Russian folk songs, and songs of modern Russia which were danced and sung at the same time. And just as the joyous leaps and turns of the dancers seemed to be more the natural expressions of their spirits than anything they had learned by hard practice, so also was their singing.

One or two numbers in this group—the Workmen's Song especially—were among the most affecting things I have ever encountered in the theater. The audience was very small but toward the last began to work up into a state of enthusiasm that was unusual, to say the least, for a dance recital. One can only hope that these spirited and beautiful young girls will come again to St. Louis under happier circumstances.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE engagement of Miss Mary Elizabeth tea Sunday evening to be given by Miss Elizabeth Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Harrington, 332 Melville avenue, and Roland Voorhes Crowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Crowell, 1813 Pershing avenue, was announced today at a luncheon given by Mrs. Harrington for 20 of her daughter's close friends. The guests were seated at small tables decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Following the luncheon the announcement was broadcast from a temporary station called Love, installed on one of the upper floors of the house. The announcer spoke for Dan Cupid.

Miss Rosemary Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Craig, 712 Clayton terrace, and Dr. Claude H. Zwart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Zwart, were married Saturday afternoon, Nov. 21, at St. Roch's Church, Father Spender officiating. The guests included only members of the two families. Miss Rose Hall, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Louis Zwart was his brother's best man.

After a brief honeymoon in the East, Dr. and Mrs. Zwart will reside in the Embassy apartments. Mrs. Zwart is a graduate of the Sacred Heart convent at Maryville, and Dr. Zwart is an alumnus of Washington University.

Mrs. Daniel K. Catlin, 41 Westmoreland place, and her daughter, Mrs. Warren Temple Chandler, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Catlin's son, Daniel K., who is attending an Eastern school.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, 9 Horvath place, celebrated their forty-fourth wedding anniversary with a family dinner at their home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Abbott, 4140 Westminister place, entertained a large number of friends yesterday in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. They were married by the Rev. Dr. H. D. Gane at that time pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bowser, 5008 Vernon avenue, gave a dinner party last evening commemorating Dr. and Mrs. H. Keller, who died at Rockford, Ill., and Mrs. Harry Ream of McLeansboro, Ill. The table was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and Thanksgiving favors.

Mrs. Leo de Smet Carton, 5557 Waterman avenue, has returned from a trip East. She visited her son, Langdon Carton, a student at Taft School in Watertown, Conn., and spent some time in New York and Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Pierce, 21 Vandeventer place, will entertain a group of the school at dinner tonight, complimenting their young daughter, Miss Roberta Pierce. The party will precede the dance of the Fortnightly at Mahler's.

The Mary Institute Alumnae Association will give a reception Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Women's Building of Washington University, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Garrison. Mr. Garrison is the new principal of Mary Institute. Miss Elizabeth Hayes is president of the Alumnae Association.

John Burton Kennard, 4957 Pershing avenue, has sent out cards for the dinner dance which will give the evening of Dec. 21 at the St. Louis Country Club to introduce to society his daughter, Miss Mary Lees Kennard.

Cards have also been received from Mrs. Furtin Delege of Hotel Chase for a luncheon Dec. 11 in honor of Miss Claire Peugeot, debutante niece of the Misses Berthold. The party will be given at the St. Louis Country Club.

Cards have been received for a 150 ATTEND NEWSBOYS' HOME DINNER ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

Former Residents of Night and Day Rest Camp Also Dined by Mrs. B. F. Bush.

One Hundred and fifty boys attended the twenty-third Thanksgiving dinner at Father Dunne's Newsboys' Home and Protectorate, 2010 Washington boulevard, yesterday. Twenty turkeys were served.

Father Dunne introduced several former residents of the home. "I feel proud of my boys and have yet to find one of whom I could truthfully say 'he is a failure,'" he said. "Wherever you go, you will find some boy from the Newsboys' Home who has become a great man and who will say 'I got my start in the Newsboys' Home.'"

There were recitations and musical numbers after the dinner. Mrs. B. F. Bush, chairman of the Night and Day Rest Camp Committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society, was hostess at a dinner at the camp, 9590 South Broadway, to about 50 girls and women who have attended the camp.

GEORGE E. BRADLEY FUNERAL Services at 3546 Lindell with Burial in Valhalla.

Funeral services for George E. Bradley, a real estate dealer, who died at his home Wednesday of heart disease after an illness of a year, were held today from the Donnelly parlors, 3546 Lindell boulevard, with burial in Valhalla cemetery.

Mr. Bradley was 53 years old and the son of the late Charles E. Bradley, who had also been a real estate dealer here. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Bradley, a daughter, Jane, three sisters and four brothers. The Bradley home is at 4406 McPherson avenue.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ENTERTAINMENTS

A conference of St. Louis Jewish progressive and labor leaders will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Y. M. H. A., 714 North Union boulevard, for the purpose of formulating plans for the Campaign for the Organized Jewish Labor Institutions in Palestine. Shalom Corngold, a labor leader who recently returned from Palestine, will address the meeting. Other speakers will be Dr. Chaim Greenberg, Mendel Fisher and Miss Leah Bicklin. Dr. Gustav Lippmann will preside.

"Cancer as a World Problem" will be discussed by Dr. Ellis Fischel, surgeon to Barnard Free Skin and Cancer Hospital, at 8:15 o'clock tonight at Washington University medical school auditorium, Scott and Euclid avenue. The lecture is fifth of a series sponsored by the St. Louis district, American Association of Hospital Workers.

Dean Ladis Loeb of the Washington University School of Business and Public Administration will speak on "Our Changing Constitution" at 8 o'clock tonight at B'nai El Temple, Spring and Flad avenue. There will be an organ recital by E. Prang Stamm. The public is invited.

Members of the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Associations will meet representatives of similar organizations of Indianapolis, Ind., in a public debate on whether the "British Mandate Constitutes Sufficient Assurance of a Jewish State in Palestine" tomorrow night at the Y. M. H. A., Union boulevard and Enright avenue.

Members of the Advertising Club, Women's and Junior Advertising Clubs, will have a joint dinner at the Town Club Monday evening at 6 o'clock. George C. Smith, manager of the Industrial Bureau, will speak on "Has St. Louis Hoover-itis?"

Little Flower Retreat Open House. Open house will be held at the Little Flower Retreat House, Eighteenth and Victor streets, Sunday at 2 p. m. Dedication of statues imported from Europe for the grotto will take place at 4 p. m. Tea will be served by the Missionary Sisters of the Holy Ghost, who operate the retreat house.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. THOUGHTS while strolling: Why do heavy literary journals have such dingy offices? Ray King, the caricaturist. Cafeteria sign: "A trayful for a trifling." Dr. Jerome Wagner, a physician to stage folk, and his beautiful actress bride, Norma Terris.

Lillian Gish's mouse-like manner. Dave Bernie—Ben's brother. And also an orchestra leader. Nothing but double breasted coats this fall. Ben Hampton, now a scientific dairyman. The next autoist who makes me jump out of my shoes with a quick foot—well, he better not.

Ned Wayburn's long strides—"High Hips" chorus girls call him. Whatever became of Dorothy Knapp? A policeman in an official cut ignores the traffic lights. A swell lesson in law and order. Those lads with oiled hair who jog through town in running pants.

Brook Penberton, an Emporia, Kan., boy who made good in the city. Never see a window demonstrator any more. Willie Pogony, the artist. A tethered goat in a movie lobby to advertise a travel firm. Frozen custard stands like those at Coney Island. Queenie Smith.

That sad, musty smell from subway gratings. And kids who fish through them for dropped coins. Chain store clockers. Child's new have oyster bars. Big Bill Edwards tries to tie his shoe—and hurries on. The familiar old characters are missing from in front of the Hotel Aror.

Dinty Moore's new restaurant front. A haughty doorman holds a fluffy puppy while a lady goes in to the movies. Chinese dinner places packed. Most of them are owned by Hibernians. And they say the Harlem cabarets are owned by Jews. The bigger the film banner, the bigger the flop—sometimes.

Clouds gather. Shopkeepers step out to curbs and scan the skies. News vendors cover wares. Crossing cops disappear for a machinist's. Everybody quickens their step. Skyscrapers light up. Rain pattern down. The asphalt glistens. No city is so beautiful in a shower.

HOTELS are warning travelers not to place their shoes outside the door at night for a shine. "Give shoes directly to the floor valet," room cards warn. Since drinking has been transferred from public bars to hotel rooms, the wind up of a night of revelry was for merry makers to gather up the shoes in the hall on the way out and toss them gayly from taxi windows along the street. Such fun!

NEW hotels are also placing banquet rooms on the first or mezzanine floors or on the top floor. Noise making and rowdiness that disturbed guests brought about this stricture. There is no fool like a tipy banqueter in paper hat.

NIGHT elevator operators in hotels are among the prohibition profiteers. Merry gentlemen out for a petty night wobble back to lams touched with an open-pursed generosity. What in sober moments would be a 25-cent tip often becomes a $5 bill.

BUT the big clean-up among hotel elevator men is at Christmas-time. Many receive gratuities tripling yearly salaries. In some of those Park avenue apartment houses known only by numbers, the Yuletide for the faithful lift men has brought sums of $500.

SPEAKEASIES have put a crimp in "the number only" address smoothness. The best known have no names, just numbers.

GLOSSILY tailored gentleman informed me today that he was "a director of public relations." And as a one-time press agent—and a fair to middling one, too—I could have walked under a nearby desk wearing a high hat. I felt that small.

FROM Portland, Maine: "I see you New Yorkers are still paying $1.50 for a pint of table water we bottle up here for 3 cents. It is enough to make a strong man break down and cry. J. L. Hue." Mr. Hue—of Hue & Cry.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.

FOUR times within one Senatorial term has the State of Ohio sent one of its citizens to Washington to represent it in the United States Senate.

Frank B. Willis was re-elected in 1926, but the following year died while campaigning for the Presidency.

Governor Donahay appointed Cyrus Locher to serve until the next general election. Locher died last August.

Theodore E. Burton was elected last November for the unexpired term ending in 1933, but death claimed him a few weeks ago, almost before he had gotten started.

And now Roscoe McCulloch, the fourth man sent to the Capital and the Senate, has arrived to take up his duties.

SENATOR MCCULLOCH has been on the Hill hardly long enough as yet for one to discuss his ability as a United States Senator. He has not even had time to pose for an official photograph, one of the very first things that a new Senator does.

But just his appearance on the floor of the Senate has decided two things in the minds of many of the gallery gods:

First, he is the best looking Senator of them all.

And second, he is perhaps the best dressed member of that body.

In fact, the successor to the venerable Burton looks more like a movie hero than a United States Senator. His profile will compare favorably with that of any screen idol.

His good looks are exceeded only by his ability to dress. His suits, always of conservative pattern, destroy the last claims that Senators Heflin, Cutting and Young Bob La Follette have to being the Senate's sartorial models. And if he ever decides to add spats to his wardrobe, Speaker Nick Longworth had better look to his laurels.

McCulloch might then lay claim to being the best-dressed man in Congress.

A MAN of splendid intellect and a tireless worker is the new Senator from Ohio.

Born on a farm in his native State November 27, 1889, he attended Ohio State University and then studied law at Western Reserve University. During his school days he won the reputation of being a deep student. In law school he was looked upon as being one of the most thorough and conscientious members of his class.

He brought those qualities into public life. His friends say that his greatest fault is that he takes life too seriously. If he has any hobby outside his family, it is work and more of it.

He doesn't play golf nor is he enthusiastic about any sport. He doesn't frequent clubs at leisure moments.

Senator McCulloch is married and has two children, Kathryn, 21, is an accomplished musician and has just been graduated from a fashionable school in New York. Hugh, 17, is a senior in high school. The McCullochs are no strangers to Washington. The Senator was a member of the House of Representatives from 1915 to 1921. And after his congressional term he served as a special assistant attorney-general, prosecuting and collecting Government claims against war-time contractors.

NANKING MOVES FOR SETTLEMENT WITH MOSCOW

Sends Note to Soviet Government Through Berlin Proposing Commission to Settle Railway Issue.

READY TO MEET RUSSIAN AGGRESSION

Stimson Asks Powers for Suggestions on How to Deal With Manchurian Dispute.

By the Associated Press.

NANKING, China, Nov. 19.—The Nanking Central Chinese Government moved today to solve its quarrel with Soviet Russia over ownership and management of the Chinese Eastern Railway built by the Czar in Manchuria.

Meanwhile it was reported actual military hostilities in Manchuria had ceased.

But in a note forwarded to the Moscow Government from the Chinese Ambassador at Berlin there was a distinct belligerent tone. It was said that rejection of the Chinese terms "will indicate Russia entertains warlike ambitions toward China. The National Government will be prepared to meet the Soviet move accordingly."

C. T. Wang, Nanking Foreign Minister, denied emphatically official announcements at Moscow that the Manchurian provincial Government at Mukden had moved for conciliation of the railroad dispute, meeting the Russian demands. Wang said the Moscow reports were "false, groundless and never existed."

Military Operations Cease. Soviet military operations in Manchuria seemed to have ceased at least partially, although an air bombing raid was made on the new Chinese military headquarters at Buchatu yesterday.

A Nationalist Foreign Office statement said a telegram had been received from Chang Tso-Ping, Chinese Minister to Germany, stating he had delivered to the Soviet Government the proposed Sino-Russian joint commission to investigate border conditions to be formed; and, second, withdrawal of troops by both sides to at least 30 miles from the border. "The statement said:

"The Foreign Office has received a telegram from Chang Tso-Ping, Chinese Minister to Germany, stating that, acting upon the Foreign Ministry's instructions, he recently submitted a proposal to the Soviet government either:

"1. That a Sino-Russian joint commission be formed, composed of equal numbers of Chinese and Russians with a national of a neutral country as chairman to investigate conditions on Sino-Russian borders; or

"2. That both sides withdraw their troops 30 miles from the borders to await settlement of Sino-Russian issues.

"These proposals have been forwarded to the Soviet government through the German Ambassador at Moscow.

"Soviet acceptance of either proposal will be taken to indicate that the Soviet Government has adopted a peaceful policy toward China, while rejection will indicate that Russia entertains warlike ambitions toward China.

"The Nationalist Government will be prepared to meet the Soviet move accordingly."

GERMANY'S NEW FOREIGN MINISTER FOR YOUNG PLAN

plan, the Young plan on a new political basis is to bring an important amelioration of the burdens on Germany's German economy and the German people will be benefited by it."

He said that the influence of foreign countries on German economy and administration, especially in the Reichsbank and Federal railways directorates, was removed by the Young plan. The Reparations Commission and the Agent-General for Reparations would disappear, and the Bank for International Settlements will not be able to interfere in German affairs. The Rhineland would be completely liberated.

The Foreign Minister became vehement in discussing the so-called prison clause in the Nationalist bill against the young plan, by which Government officials signing the Young plan are to go to the penitentiary.

"Acme of Demagoguery." "This is the acme of demagoguery," he cried. "It is not patriotism but an unhappy delusion to close our eyes to the fact that we are not in a position to force our will upon other Powers. National self-confidence and faith in the inherent strength of our own people must be the foundation for every German foreign policy."

Dr. Curtius closed with a fervent tribute to Gustav Stresemann, who he said had placed Germany on the right road, sacrificing his own life in doing so.

Vice President Thomas Esler, Centrist party leader, endorsed the Foreign Minister's standpoint on behalf of the coalition parties behind the Government.

DROP REPORTED IN MISSOURI CONSTRUCTION IN OCTOBER

Contracts Awarded Totaled $11,993,900, or $18,000,000 Less.

Than Last September. A falling off in contracts awarded for new construction in Missouri in October was reported today by the F. D. Dodge Corporation. Contracts awarded totaled $11,993,900 for the month, compared with $20,171,100 for September and $13,966,900 for October last year.

In the first 10 months of this year the State's volume of contracts amounted to $192,111,900, compared with $190,701,000 for the first 10 months of 1928.

Among classes of work most active in October were residential buildings, with $3,150,300, or 26 per cent, public works and utilities with $2,118,500, or slightly less than 26 per cent; commercial construction $2,085,500, or 17 per cent; and industrial plants, $862,500, or 7 per cent.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF LONDON OBSERVES THANKSGIVING DAY

300 Attend Customary Dinner at Which Dawes Makes Chief Address.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Three hundred Americans, members of the American Society of London, celebrated Thanksgiving last night with turkey, pumpkin pie and other customary trimmings as well as a few beverages.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes

was guest of honor and made the principal address. The society had expected to entertain Ramsey MacDonald and Frank B. Kellogg, ex-Secretary of State, but the Prime Minister had a previous engagement and Kellogg left for Southampton to board the Leviathan to start back to the United States. "Twenty per cent of present day Americans are of old English stock," said Dawes in his speech. "That is the reason the British and Americans have so many faults in common."

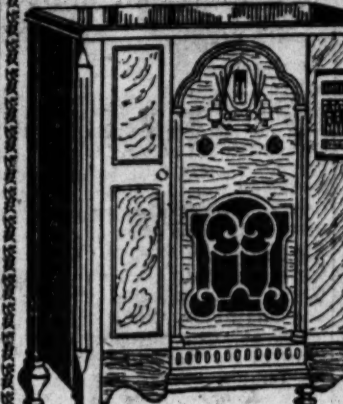

He added there was little of the old-fashioned Puritan character left in the United States, but he rejoiced in this day of good cheer because so far as he was able to determine, Thanksgiving was the only day on which the solemn Pilgrim fathers had ever "loosened up" and celebrated.

Leon Errol, American actor, came to the dinner as guest of honor.

Dawes and brought roars of laughter by alluding to the "bomb-throwing prohibition of the Ambassador's fellow citizens of Chicago."

Lame from housework? —what to do

No matter how bad you feel, you've got to get up, got to work all day. But there is one sure way to relieve soreness, one way to work with comfort.

You know how sunshine warms your body—how it penetrates into the cells. Sloan's healthy heat also warms you. It loosens congestion and drives away pain. Get a fresh bottle today, 35c.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

There are two common sources of this protective factor. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil! Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe if he could get enough on his bare body. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this impossible. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting rays—the ultra-violet rays.

Physicians urge the use of Bottled Sunshine—cod-liver oil—as the dependable way to assure correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

And thousands of them insist upon one particular kind—Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because laboratory tests show it to be very rich in two essentials.

In Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which is necessary to build strong bones and sound teeth, and in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to infections.

Your physician knows he can depend on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected. Insist on Squibb's. All reliable drug stores have both Plain and Mint-flavored.

The breast-fed baby as well as the bottle-fed needs it . . . Bottled Sunshine . . .

The breast-fed baby has many advantages over the bottle-fed. But even the breast-fed baby may not always be able to build strong, straight bones and sound, uncrowded teeth.

A certain protective substance (Vitamin D) must be supplied if bones and teeth are to develop properly.

There are two common sources of this protective factor. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil! Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe if he could get enough on his bare body. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this impossible. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting rays—the ultra-violet rays.

Physicians urge the use of Bottled Sunshine—cod-liver oil—as the dependable way to assure correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

And thousands of them insist upon one particular kind—Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because laboratory tests show it to be very rich in two essentials.

In Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which is necessary to build strong bones and sound teeth, and in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to infections.

Your physician knows he can depend on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected. Insist on Squibb's. All reliable drug stores have both Plain and Mint-flavored.

Island, grew from a line of 1150 miles to more than 17,000 miles, at that time the largest mileage under single control in the country. The line then extended from St. Paul, Minn., and Watertown, S. D., in the north, to Denver in the west and to New Orleans, El Paso and Brownsville, Tex., in the south.

Opened Up Rio Grande Valley. By building the road from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, Yoakum opened up the rich Gulf Coast region of Texas to the Rio Grande. Once used only for grazing cattle, it was converted through irrigation and intensive cultivation into a garden spot of truck, fruit and sugar cane farms.

When he began construction in Oklahoma and Texas, houses in some cases were 50 to 75 miles apart, but the plow followed his rails and soon towns and cities sprang up along the road's right of way.

For more than 30 years he had been interested in improving the condition of the farmer and in 1909 first advocated a system of farm marketing known as "The Yoakum plan," many features of which have since been embodied into farm legislation and in national farmers' organizations.

Though a lifelong Democrat he felt he could not endorse the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill and supported Herbert Hoover for president at the last election.

Answered Critics With Figures. In 1913 the Frisco went into receivership and although Yoakum remained chairman of its Board of Directors he was not appointed receiver. He was severely criticized by former Judge H. S. Priest, a stockholder, and by others, who asserted his participation in the construction and sale of a number of branch lines to the Frisco was largely responsible for its failure.

To these criticisms Yoakum replied with an itemized statement of his participation in the construction and sale of a number of branch lines to the Frisco was largely responsible for its failure.

From 1905 to 1909 he was chairman of the executive committee of the Rock Island Railway.

He was the founder of the Lennox Hills Golf Club, which was established on part of his Long Island estate, and after the death of his wife in 1926, he established a club house for caddies as a memorial to her. This club, of colonial architecture, with an assembly room, a gymnasium and a library, is regarded as one of the most complete structures of its kind. Too ill to attend the last annual banquet of the "Caddy Club" he addressed a personal letter to its 160 members, expressing his interest in their welfare and urging establishment of similar club houses at golf clubs throughout the country.

He was married in 1885 to Elizabeth Bennett of San Antonio, Tex. Their two children, Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, and Mrs. Francis R. Larkin, were at his bedside when he died.

CITY ART MUSEUM OPENS DOORS TO THE MODERNISTS

While holding their prices among collectors, do not draw the praises of yore from connoisseurs. In the fashion, the modernists—those vast glittering compositions of the nineteenth century, in which grand edifices flashed over battlefields, while still holding in the main, their money values, and still accounted excellent museum pieces, are not today in favor with connoisseurs.

Domenichino and the "grand manner" painters who were prizes in collections here and abroad before 1850 have utterly lost popularity. However, Rogers pointed out, antiques and old masters occupy a certain place in the economic world which makes them increase in value from year to year. "There are fashions in art, and sometimes the fashions are not permanent, but on the other hand great painters are always greater than their schools and styles."

"As we go on, antiques and old masters tend to become more and more valuable because there is only a certain number of them in the world today and they cannot be increased," Rogers said. "The dollar in the future will buy increasingly fewer cents' worth of antiques or old masters, and for this reason, the acquisition of antiques and old masters by museums is important. They are always cheaper today than they will be tomorrow."

Of Cezanne, Rogers said: "He violated the laws of perspective, using color to gain perspective effects. But after all it would be difficult to find a great painter who did not, at some time violate the laws of perspective."

Rogers made it plain that he was not a particular champion of modern painting but that he believed modern painting, as classical painting and all other types of painting, had produced a few great artists. Also that he believed the public in a metropolitan city should have the opportunity to see what outstanding contemporary painters are doing.

"In the last few years," he added, "the connoisseurs who held out longest against modern art have gone over. The claims of modern painting cannot longer be ignored. The modernists have something to say worth saying. The pendulum has swung far from the objectivity of the nineteenth century. The trend now is toward subjectivism, toward simplification of objects in the attempt to convey something apart from the mere surface truths of things. The pendulum, I suppose, will swing back in time. It always does."

DROPS CLAUSE BARRING KAISER FROM GERMANY

Reichstag Passes Defense of Republic Act; Now Goes to Reichstag.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—The Reichstag yesterday adopted the newly introduced defense of the Republic Act putting new teeth into the regulations for the defense of the German democracy. The vote was 38 to 25. The bill will now go to the Reichstag for its first reading on Dec. 2.

The bill contains considerably increased penalties for attacks, not only against the lives of Cabinet ministers, but also against the lives of any holders of political office. Even "insulting or slandering or inciting to attack against any political office-holder" is made punishable as high treason. Numerous other paragraphs relate to punishment for any subversive acts endangering the peaceful conduct of the Republic government in Germany.

The bill differs from the original Defense of the Republic Act, adopted in 1922, in that the paragraph prohibiting the return of the former Kaiser to Germany is omitted. The position taken by the Democrats in drawing the bill was that the Republic was so firmly established that it could make no difference if the former ruler should decide to live on his country estate in Germany.

PHYSICIAN KIDNAPED, TARRED, FEATHERED
Son of Ex-Premier of British Columbia Accused as Mob Leader.

By the Associated Press.
VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 29.—Charles E. Oliver, son of John Oliver, former Premier of British Columbia, was at liberty today on bail, charged with kidnapping and tarred and feathered Dr. V. E. Latimer, former physician of Brandon, Manitoba, against whom Oliver had brought charges, the nature of which the police did not make public. Oliver said Joseph Oliver, Vancouver lawyer, and brother of the accused man, had brought similar charges against Dr. Latimer, and had been advised the police were serious to act.

Dr. Latimer came into the provincial police station Wednesday night dripping tar and with the lower portion of his body covered with feathers and swore out a warrant for Oliver. He said he was telephoned early Wednesday night by a man giving the name of Harvey, who wished to see the doctor in his office.

On reaching his office, Dr. Latimer said, a man knocked him to the sidewalk and with the aid of two other men threw him into a car. He said he recognized the voice of Charles Oliver. Constable Alcott saw the speeding car and fired a shot at the rear tire but the car missed the tire.

Dr. Latimer said that on a lonely spot about two and one-half miles from Penticton his trousers and underwear were removed, his feet tied with a thong and tar and feathers applied to his body. The three men drove off and the doctor was forced to walk back to the police station with only his overcoat for covering. A physician found him suffering from shock and a badly swollen jaw.

Oliver did not plead to the charge and gave surety for $500 bail, hearing was set for Monday.

In red paint the words "Abandon hope, all ye who enter here," were inscribed on Dr. Latimer's sign outside of his office three weeks ago. This note was mentioned in the local press at the time and was attributed to some practical joker.

PHYSICIAN KIDNAPED, TARRED, FEATHERED

son of Ex-Premier of British Columbia Accused as Mob Leader.

By the Associated Press.
VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 29.—
Charles E. Oliver, son of John Oliver, former Premier of British Columbia, was at liberty today, on bail, charged with kidnapping and murdering Dr. V. E. Eastman, formerly of Brandon, Manitoba, against whom Oliver had brought many charges, the nature of which the police did not make public.
Police said Joseph Oliver, Vancouver lawyer, and brother of the accused man, had brought similar charges against Dr. Latimer, and had been advised the police were willing to act.

Dr. Latimer came into the provincial police station Wednesday night dripping tar and with the lower portion of his body covered with feathers and swore out a warrant for Oliver. He said he was abducted early Wednesday night by a man giving the name of Harvey, who wished to see the doctor in his office.

On reaching his office, Dr. Latimer said, a man knocked him to the sidewalk and with the aid of two other men threw him into a car. He said he recognized the voice of Charles Oliver. Constable Albert saw the speeding car and fired a shot at the rear tire but missed.

Dr. Latimer said that on a lonely spot about two and one-half miles from Victoria his trousers and underwear were removed, his feet tied with a thong and tar and feathers applied to his body.
The three men drove off and the doctor was forced to walk back to the police station with only his overcoat for covering. A physician found him suffering from shock and a badly swollen jaw.

Oliver did not plead to the charge and gave surety for $500 bail.
Hearing was set for Monday.
In red paint the words "Abandon hope, all ye who enter here," were inscribed on Dr. Latimer's sign outside of his office three weeks ago.
This note was mentioned in the local press at the time and was attributed to some practical joker.

CONTESTS OVER FIVE SEATS IN HOUSE

Committees to Be Organized Next Week to Conduct Hearings.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Five Representatives face contests over their seats in the House, despite the fact that they have been serving officially since the beginning of the special session.

They were seated following receipt by William Tyler Page, House clerk, of certificates of election from the State Secretaries, but throughout the summer and fall attorneys have been working on the cases of both contestants and contestees and records are now complete and in the hands of Page.

The election committees will be organized next week to hear the contests after the regular session convenes Monday. They will go into the records and probably will hold open hearings.

Contest Against Mrs. Owen.
With the exception of the contest over the seat held by Representative R. B. Bryan, Owen (Dem.), of the Fourth Florida District, the contests deal with disputes over election returns.

W. C. Lawson, Republican candidate for the Florida seat, charges Mrs. Owen lost her citizenship when she married a British army officer. Mrs. Owen returned to the United States after her husband died and claims to have lived here sufficient time to have regained her citizenship and thus be eligible for her seat.

Former Representative Harry M. Wurzbach (Rep.) has been persistent in his attack on the seating of Representative Augustus McClosky (Dem.), of the Fourteenth Texas District. He has declined to relinquish his office in the House office building and is understood to have charged irregularities in Bexar County (Tex.) elections. McClosky is a former Mayor of San Antonio, seat of Bexar County.

John Phillip Hill is attempting to unseat Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Dem.), of the Third Maryland District.

Contest Over Missouri Seat.
Jacob L. Milligan (Dem.), of the Third Missouri District, is stoutly defending his claim to his seat against H. F. Lawrence.

Ralph E. Updike, defeated Republican of the Seventh Indiana District, is contesting the seating of Louis Ludlow (Dem.).

After the committees have completed their investigations into the cases they will draft reports to be submitted to the House for disposition. Then it will be decided whether the five holding the seats shall keep them.

If a contest succeeds in unseating a contestee, both will receive salaries for services up to the time of final action, but if the contest fails to prove his claims he will not receive any compensation other than the specified amount which the House, however, provides for defraying the cost of his contest.

Chambermaid in Social Register.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A Norwegian girl recently arrived in the United States, who got a job as chambermaid, is in the social register. The latest issue notes that Miss Adelaide Ingebreten was married to William W. Willock Jr. at Oyster Bay, Nov. 6. Will Sr., steel magnate, has forgiven the elopers and presented them with a house on his estate.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical formula with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds and is excellent for building up the system after colds. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

URGES CITY TO RETAIN OLD GARBAGE SYSTEM

Research Bureau Wants Dock Improved, However, So Motor Trucks Can Be Used.

The Bureau of Municipal Research, in the current issue of its publication, Mind Your Business, urges that the city carry out the recent recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment that an ordinance be passed immediately for disposal of the city's garbage under a new five-year contract by the present method.

This method consists of delivery of garbage to barges at the foot of Chouteau avenue, for towing down the river to an island for hog feeding. The research bureau further urges that the garbage dock at Chouteau avenue be improved to accommodate motorized tractor and trailer collection equipment. The Government had objected to city plans for the improvement but several months ago withdrew its criticisms.

"Since then," Mind Your Business says, "no further action has been taken toward erection of the dock."

A year ago the bureau submitted to city officials a plan for use of tractor-trailer equipment which, it was estimated, would reduce collection costs $10,000 a year. A former city administration, it is pointed out, spent $50,000 in 1924 for tractors and trailers which never have been used but are available when the dock will accommodate them.

"For several years," says the pamphlet, "this bureau has urged the city administration to discontinue the present expensive and unsanitary method of collection (by mule-drawn wagons) and to adopt a system using tractors and trailers."

There have been no objections under the five-year disposal contract which will expire next February, says the bureau, that would require the city to abandon the hog-feeding method in favor of expensive incineration or reduction plants.

MRS. ELLEN RICHARDS' ESTATE

An inventory of the estate of Mrs. Ellen Richards, 4220 McPherson avenue, filed in Probate Court today, showed that she left personal property valued at $129,804 and the home on McPherson avenue, valued at $8600.

Her sons, Thomas and Oliver, are the beneficiaries under her will. She died Oct. 19.

ALUMINUM CO. EXPENDITURES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 29.—The Aluminum Co. of America will expend $50,000,000 in 1930, it was announced at the company offices here. The allocation under the budget headings has not been completed, but a considerable part of this amount will be spent in the Pittsburgh district, it was said.

KEYHOLE INTRODUCED IN COURT

Used as Evidence in Divorce Suit, Jurors Invited to "Peep."

LONDON, Nov. 29. —One of the most curious exhibits ever seen in an English court room was produced yesterday when a keyhole was introduced in evidence in a divorce case so that the jury might judge how much could be seen by peeping through it. The keyhole was completely surrounded by a drawing room door and Justice Hill allowed the whole door to be placed in evidence upon the plea of counsel that there was a question of observations having been made through the keyhole and that the jury might like to test its possibilities for themselves.

FIVE MEN ARRESTED FOR 30 ROBBERIES

Former Policemen Among Those Held at Springfield, Mo.—Confession Obtained.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 29.—More than 30 robberies, part of them in Springfield and some of them more than two years old, have been cleared up here with the arrest of five men, followed by a detailed confession from the leader. A number of the robberies were committed by blowing safes.

Among those arrested is a former Springfield policeman, who was appointed to special duty this summer about a year after the robberies for which he is now being held in the Greene Jail. He served about two months on the police force.

Those arrested are: Charles D. Groty, 24 years old, the leader, arrested Tuesday in Kansas City; Frank Clark, 26, Oklahoma City; Marion Bailey, 25, Republic; Clark and Bailey were arrested Nov. 18, on Groty's farm in Christian County. Fred Smith, 35, former Springfield police officer, and John Smith, 30, brother of Fred Smith.

Marcel C. Hendrix, Greene County Sheriff, and Deputy Otis Crosswhite arrested the Smith brothers here Wednesday afternoon, and Groty was brought here from Kansas City Tuesday night.

Bailey and Clark have been in the Dade County Jail at Greenfield since their arrest 10 days ago by Sheriff O. E. Killingsworth of that county, charged with the robbery of the Farmers' Exchange at Everton Nov. 17.

Among the places which Groty in his confession says were robbed are the following: The Fellini Motor Co., the Farmers' Exchange, a drug store, a filling station and several groceries, all in Springfield; the Bank of Seymour, the Farmers' Exchange and Feed Mill, at Seymour; a hardware store at Morrisville, Mo.; a lumber yard 30 miles northwest of Springfield, the name of which he did not remember, and the Farmers' Exchange of Walnut Grove.

The search for clues took the officers into almost a dozen counties in Southwest Missouri and as far away as Kansas City and Oklahoma City. A small farm rented by Groty near Abady, in Christian County, has been the rendezvous of the robbers, and it was there that the officer found the first definite evidence which would corroborate the confession: Guns which had been taken from the Bank of Seymour, the Morrisville Hardware Store, and one from a store at Fordland. Eight guns, four shotguns and four pistols, all answering the description of those stolen, were found buried in a hollow about 300 yards from the Groty farm home.

LOSES HEARING IN FALL,

Californian, Deaf Two Years, Recovers Faculty in 35-Minute Flight Over Omaha.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 29.—The hearing of Charles E. Davidson, 27 years old, of Petaluma, Cal., who had been deaf for two years, returned yesterday in a 35-minute airplane ride over Omaha.

Davidson said he lost his hearing in a fall from a two-story window in Detroit. Specialists throughout the country were consulted, but were unable to cure his deafness, he said.

90 PCT. OF MEXICAN VOTES FOR ORTIZ RUBIO

Victor Officially Declared President-Elect—To Take Medical Treatment in U. S.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 29.—By formal declaration of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday Pascual Ortiz Rubio officially became President-elect of Mexico.

The electoral committee of the Chamber, after examining the ballots of the recent election, reported that 1,958,313 votes had been cast, of which Ortiz Rubio received 1,825,761. Jose Vasconcelos 110,279 and Pedro Triana 25,273.

The Chamber then declared Ortiz Rubio elected for the term beginning Feb. 5, 1930, and ending Dec. 1, 1934.

Ortiz Rubio received the congratulations of his adherents. Vasconcelos and his followers refrained from expressing themselves. The morning newspapers in Mexico City introduced a novelty in post-election proceedings in Mexico by printing flashlight photographs of the election committee counting the ballots.

Ortiz Rubio is expected to retain four members of the present Cabinet. They are: Gen. Joaquin Amaro, Minister of War; Javier Sanchez Majorda, Minister of Communications; Ramon Denegri, Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor; and Genaro Estrada, acting Foreign Minister. Former Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani, now Minister to France, is expected to return to his old post.

It was announced that the President-elect would leave soon for the United States to take treatment at the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., for an internal disorder from which he has suffered for a year. He will remain there until cured, it is said.

While in the United States the President-elect will confer with President Hoover. Ortiz Rubio is by profession an engineer and a graduate of the University of Mexico.

INQUIRY INTO THE COLLAPSE OF ELECTION MURDER TRIAL

Chicago Judge Says He Will Not Object to Bar Association Investigation.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Announcement was made yesterday by Judge Joseph E. David during the trial, which was marked by tiffs between the Court and Frank J. Loesch, 76-year-old special prosecutor.

The Court at one time during the trial threatened to reverse the verdict if the defendants were convicted; referred to a State witness as an "unmitigated liar," and told the States its case was "inexcusably weak" and "spotted with perjured witnesses whose testimony smells to high heaven."

Judge David said yesterday he had no objection to an investigation. Asked if he would stand by his assertions as quoted in the press, he replied: "The record speaks for itself."

The five detectives and their four co-defendants were charged with slaying Granady during disorders in the "Bloody 20th" Ward on Chicago's primary day, 1928.

WOMAN FLYERS FORCED DOWN IN SECOND REFUELING FLIGHT

Bobbie Trout and Elinor Smith Up 42 Hours and Five Minutes at Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 29.—The second attempt of Bobbie Trout, Los Angeles, and Elinor Smith, New York, to establish a new record for endurance flight here failed today when lack of fuel forced them to land at 8:45 a. m. They had been in the air 42 hours and 5 minutes.

It was their second attempt within a week to better the record of 420 hours, 31 minutes and 58 seconds held by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, St. Louis.

The 42 hours and 5 minutes is a record for women, however, as they are the first of their sex to make a refueling endurance flight.

Storms and Floods in Portugal.

By the Associated Press.

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 29.—Storms and floods were raging with intense violence throughout Portugal today. A fishing boat at the entrance of the Tagus River foundered and the crew of four perished. Floods which swept Lisbon itself yesterday caused great hardship in the poorer sections. Torrential rains fell for more than 24 hours.

G P A RADIATOR GLYCERINE

freed 950,000 motorists from ANTI-FREEZE worries last winter

950,000 Users—Leave your car anywhere in any weather. You can always count on G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine's protection.

It's SAFE because it won't evaporate

Nearly a million motorists protected their cars against freezing for the entire winter with one filling of G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine last year.

They never had to worry about evaporation. They didn't have to add more anti-freeze every few days to keep the solution up to strength. They had none of the worry, fuss, and bother that the average motorist pays as the price of winter safety for his car.

Glycerine does not evaporate. That's the secret of its positive permanent protection. It won't steam off on the warm days. Its protection is always there when the cold snaps threaten.

It is safe, too. It won't harm the car finish. It won't attack the cooling system. It meets all of the U. S. Bureau of Standards requirements of a perfect anti-freeze. And it has no odor.

G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine is the only glycerine solution produced under the formula and specifications of the Glycerine Producers' Association. One filling lasts the entire winter. Get it today.

Santa Lets Post-Dispatch Party Secrets Leak Out

Moving Pictures and Other Modern Ideas Included in His Plans for Christmas Day Festival.

Santa Claus is a strange mixture of the new and the old. Although the design of his famous suit is as old as the hills he wouldn't change it for the world. Further, he wouldn't part with his beard under any circumstances. In some ways he is the very incarnation of old-fashionedness. "Santa Claus without them?" He actually hoots at the idea.

On the other hand, there isn't anyone this side of Little America who comes any nearer keeping up with the times. Everybody knows what a great boost it was for the aviation industry when Santa Claus, lending not only moral interest but active support, turned his reindeer back on the North Pole ice pasture, and took his pack of gifts into the air in the highest of high-powered airplanes. "Who said an old dog couldn't teach the world new tricks?" he shouted to Mrs. Santa Claus as he took off that first air-delivered Christmas right after the war.

Another instance of his eternal youth has come out in the plans for the Thirtieth Annual Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival for St. Louis' poor children. At the last executive committee meeting in Hotel Jefferson he advised the committee through Fred W. Page, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, who is in charge of entertainment at the Festival, that this year more than ever before, boys and girls are asking for mechanical things.

Moving picture machines and airplanes are the presents which an exceedingly large number of calls are for, the committee was told. Accordingly at Page's suggestion it was agreed that the Festival would co-operate with the spirit of the times and exhibit among other entertainment features a number of reels of the very best children's motion pictures.

All the committees are at work—have been for nearly two weeks—and everything indicates that there need not be a child in St. Louis that won't know the joy of Christmas good cheer. The preparation of Christmas Fund lists in the Christmas Festival office, 201 Post-Dispatch building, is well under way.

As usual a great many requests are coming to the Post-Dispatch for Christmas baskets. As has been printed, the committee, after a thorough consideration of the matter, decided to abandon the distribution of baskets this year. On account of pressure work during the Christmas season, organized charities have decided not to co-operate with the Festival Committee in the investigation of needy families. Each organization plans to take care of its own poor in the matter of Christmas good cheer.

Since the Post-Dispatch began basket distribution many other organizations have entered this field of Christmas hospitality. The duplication of activity requires the services of a competent corps of investigators to make certain that

When Vicks VapoRub was introduced, mothers especially were quick to appreciate it, because it is just rubbed on and cannot upset children's delicate stomachs, as "dosing" is so apt to do. Of course it is equally good for adults.

Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and the demand for Vicks has grown until it is necessary to again raise the figures in the famous slogan. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

MINE OWNERS OPPOSE MCDONALD'S PROGRAM

Government Expected to Proceed Without Coal Operators' Consent.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 29.—For three hours Wednesday coal owners discussed with the Cabinet Coal Committee the Government's legislative proposals with regard to mining. It was reported there was little possibility of the owners agreeing with the McDonald Government's proposals.
There are three points of cleavage, reduction of working hours, marketing schemes and the establishment of a national wages board. It is expected the Government now will have no alternative but to proceed without either the owners' consent or co-operation.
Among the coal owners the view is expressed that the Government's present marketing proposals go far beyond what was originally indicated. The original proposal was that the Government would, by statute if necessary, enforce compliance with an approved district marketing scheme and a central co-ordinating scheme devised by the coal owners. The present proposal, it is charged, goes much beyond those conditions and implies considerable interference both in detail and in the administration of these schemes.

The Government's proposals call for a reduction of a half hour in the miner's working day and the establishment of a national board to control wages. The awards of this board would be binding on all owners. To enable the industry to bear these changes the marketing schemes are contemplated. Through schemes are contemplated. Through them it is hoped to secure a consistent market for coal at a profitable price.

EXPLAINS UNIQUE BUSINESS OF BANKRUPT UNIQUE DRESS CO.

An examination of Irving M. Novack, former president of the bankrupt Unique Dress Co., in Bankruptcy Court Wednesday, disclosed that the company lost about $150,000 on a gross business of $248,000 during the first nine months of this year. Referee Coles ordered further investigation.
After bankruptcy proceedings were filed Oct. 5, Novack scheduled the company's debts at $55,491 and its assets at $8343. The concern made money from its organization in 1927 until the current year, Novack said. His only explanation of the losses was that overhead was too high and that buying and manufacturing mistakes had forced the sale of dresses, with a standard price of $10.75, at $4.50.
In the months preceding bankruptcy, according to his testimony, the firm sold a substantial portion of its accounts while continuing to buy merchandise. Although the company usually had a stock of about 2000 dresses, it had only three on the day of the filing of Easy Way to Make Breakfast Dishes Like Pancakes and Muffins.

Home cooks find it far easier to supply their families with pancakes than did their grandmothers of pioneer days.

In early times, grandmother and great-grandmother set pancakes batter overnight, like they did home-made bread. Modern grand-daughter purchases a package of prepared flour at the grocery store, adds a little water or milk to the prepared flour, and in the twinkling of an eye the batter is ready to be baked into golden-brown griddle cakes for breakfast.

The modern housewife finds it a real joy to make pancakes this way for they will be good every time, as the prepared flour is standard in type and there is no fear of getting too much or too little baking powder or soda in any particular one batch of cakes as the proportions are always the same.

Buckwheat cakes, which are relished by all persons who appreciate tasty cookery, are readily made with ready-prepared buckwheat pancake flour.

Now that waffles have become fashionable articles of food, housewives have found out that waffles may be successfully made with these ready prepared pancake flours which make crisp tender waffles.

To change the flavor of the hot cakes, add chocolate, raisins, mashed sweet potatoes or grated white potatoes, orange juice, canned berries, or any other flavoring or ingredient popular for using in waffles.

These prepared and pancake flours may be used in making all kinds of muffins. Dates, nuts, raisins, bran, blueberries, canned or dried, may be added to the batter when a particularly tempting hot bread is desired.

Some Suggestions.
Put a round of sausage between two freshly baked pancakes and serve with sausage gravy made by pouring one-half cup thin cream in pan in which the sausage was cooked and stirring until cream and meat gravy are well blended. Serve hot.

Sprinkle grated cheese over hot waffles and serve with jelly.
Serve waffles with creamed chicken or creamed asparagus.

NICE STEAMED PUDDING FOR A WINTER'S DINNER
This Type of Sweetness Is Very Suitable for Cold Weather

Among the steamed puddings suitable for a dessert on a cold day do not forget marmalade pudding. This delicacy is made with two eggs, one-fourth cup milk, one half teaspoon baking powder, one fourth cup chopped suet, one-half cup powdered sugar, one-fourth cup butter, one-half teaspoon vanilla, three-fourths cup orange marmalade and one and one-fourth cup bread crumbs.

Beat one egg. Add the milk, baking powder dissolved in two teaspoonsful of hot water, suet, orange marmalade and bread crumbs. Mix thoroughly. Turn into a greased mold. Cover and steam for two hours. Makes four servings.

To make the sauce, cream the powdered sugar and the butter. Place in a saucepan in hot water. Add the well-beaten yolk of the other egg. Stir until the mixture thickens. Just before serving fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and vanilla.

MAKE CHECKER BOARD CAKE FOR THE BRIDGE LUNCHEON
Batter of Two Colors Produces the Effect of a Checkerboard Cake.

Checker board cake markers may be purchased at any large round cake pan.

Use your favorite recipes for chocolate and white or yellow cake. Prepare enough batter for three layers. Then place your marker in the bottom of the first pan. Pour light batter in the center and in the outer ring—dark batter in the in-between ring.

In the two remaining pans, pour dark batter in the center and outside rings and light batter in the in-between ring.

When baked, place layer with light outside ring between the two layers with dark outside ring. Spread with frosting.

HOW TO ROAST RABBIT UNUSUAL BUT TASTY
Way of Preparing Bunble For the Table.

After the rabbit has been properly cleaned, stuff, sew it, and truss the legs close to the body; season well with salt and pepper and place in a hot oven.

Lay a piece of beef suet over the rabbit the first hour or three-quarters of an hour of roasting; then remove the fat and baste the rabbit every 10 minutes until done.

Seasonable Advice.
It requires from one and a half to two hours to roast, according to size and age.

Serve with brown gravy and currant jelly.

RECIPES FOR DISHES FOR WEEK'S MENUS

Serve Simple, Light and Nourishing Dishes Following a Holiday Feast.

Frozen apricots are one of the new type frozen desserts which may be served at either formal or informal meals.

To prepare this icy cold sweet use two cups cooked apricots drained from their juice, two cups apricot juice, one cup sugar and one lemon.

Rub apricots through a coarse sieve, add juice and sugar. Heat through until sugar is dissolved. Cool and add grated rind and juice of lemon. Freeze.

It will improve in flavor and texture by standing to ripen for several hours. Will serve eight persons.

Cranberry Whip.
Use one cup of thick cranberry sauce or cook two cups of raw cranberries with one-half cup of water and two-thirds cup of sugar for 10 minutes or until the berries are broken and very soft. Cool before using.

Soak one tablespoon of plain gelatin in one-fourth cup of cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in one-half cup of boiling water and then stir into the cranberry sauce with the juice of one-half orange and a teaspoon of grated orange rind.

Beat two egg whites until stiff, fold them into the cranberry mixture, place the bowl containing this in a pan of ice water and beat with a wire egg whip or fork until the mixture is almost thick enough to hold its shape. Pipe in sherbet glasses and chill before serving.

Ginger Bread.
One cup sorghum, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup butter, three eggs, heaping teaspoon ginger, one of cinnamon, one of soda, dissolved in one cup boiling water, two and one-half cups of flour. Mix, adding the whites of eggs well whipped the last thing. Bake in loaf.

Coffee Cake.
A delicious quick hot bread is prune coffee cake which is made with two eggs, one cup sugar, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one half cup milk, one-half cup melted shortening, one teaspoon vanilla and chopped nut meats.

Beat eggs, add sugar. Sift flour and baking powder; add to mixture alternately with milk. Beat until smooth; add melted shortening and vanilla. Pour into greased shallow baking pans, cover entire top with well-washed uncooked pitted prunes. Sprinkle surface with chopped walnuts; bake in a moderate oven. Will serve six or eight persons.

If this cake is cut in squares and garnished with whipped cream it becomes a most delightful lunch or dinner dessert.

Luncheon Cocoa.
Mix two tablespoons cocoa with one-half cup milk until it becomes a smooth paste. Dissolve one-half cup sugar in one cup water. Add one quart of milk and cook for three minutes. Serve at once.

Seasonable Advice.
Dried or canned fruit and vegetables are almost all equal in nutritive value to the fresh and at certain times of the year are much less expensive.

BAKED FINNAN HADDIE

Easily Prepared Dish for Friday's Luncheon or Dinner.

Cut fish into portions. Place in shallow baking dish and brush top with butter. Cut two large cold-boiled potatoes in half. Spread with butter. Place fish and potatoes in hot oven five minutes to brown.

Then pour over one cup half milk half cream. Replace in oven 10 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika and serve.

with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour

A million women now use this remarkable new cake flour!

In one short year, over a million women have chosen Pillsbury's Cake Flour and found themselves baking cakes that were distinctly better than anything they had been able to produce before!

Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a softer, finer texture. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

If you haven't tried Pillsbury's Cake Flour, do so now—we believe you'll enjoy a real thrill. Test it thoroughly—try it with the most difficult, delicate recipes you know—before you have finished the first package you'll be convinced that here at last is the perfect cake flour!

Pillsbury's Cake Flour

An entirely new idea in cake plates—practical as well as beautiful. It stands up from the table on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edges, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass. In a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

ABOUT THE POPULAR AFTERNOON TEA

Dainty Foods and Simple Service Help the Spirit of Hospitality.

An informal afternoon tea is perhaps the simplest form of entertaining, yet it can express to the fullest the true spirit of hospitality. Conversation moves along easily and cheerfully under the stimulating influence of a cup of tea daintily and simply served.

The pleasant feeling of relaxation that follows the partaking of tea in the afternoon is worthy of a good deal of consideration. In these days of constant rushing from one thing to another, and may be one of the reasons for the increasing popularity of the afternoon tea habit.

It is a big mistake to think that elaborate or rich foods must be served for a company tea. A few dainty sandwiches, a plate of crisp hot cinnamon toast, or toasted muffins and jam and plenty of well-made tea are all that are really necessary.

Indeed, those who are in the throes of a reducing diet will be quite content with a slice of Melba toast and a cup of tea.

Small frosted or filled cakes may be added for those who eat regardless, and salted nuts or bonbons are often used as additional sweets. However, it is the tea that is important, with the other foods serving as accompaniments to it.

ABOUT THE POPULAR AFTERNOON TEA

Dainty Foods and Simple Service Help the Spirit of Hospitality.

An informal afternoon tea is perhaps the simplest form of entertaining, yet it can express to the fullest the true spirit of hospitality. Conversation moves along easily and cheerfully under the stimulating influence of a cup of tea daintily and simply served.

The pleasant feeling of relaxation that follows the partaking of a good deal of conversation in these days of constant rushing from one thing to another, and may be one of the reasons for the increasing popularity of the afternoon tea habit.

It is a big mistake to think that elaborate or rich foods must be served for a company tea. A few dainty sandwiches, a plate of crisp hot cinnamon toast, or toasted muffins and jam and plenty of hot, well-made tea are all that are really necessary.

Indeed, those who are in the throes of a reducing diet will be quite content with a slice of Melba toast and a cup of tea!

Small frosted or filled cakes may be added for those who eat regardless, and salted nuts or bonbons are often used as additional sweets. However, it is the tea that is important, with the other foods serving as accompaniments to it.

A Good Cup of Tea.

Having selected the favorite in the tea line, see that it is properly made.

Most experts advocate the use of an earthenware teapot to any other kind, as they believe that it best develops the true flavor of the tea. It is of the utmost importance to use fresh boiling water on the tea leaves. Allow one level teaspoon for each cup and let it brew for five minutes. If it must stand longer, strain it into another pot. Tea bags or balls are convenient to use, as they insure the same strength of the brew, and the bags may be withdrawn when the tea has brewed the required length of time.

Serve Tea Hot.
Be sure to serve tea hot; there is no excuse for a lukewarm beverage. Slices of lemon, sometimes with a whole clove or two stuck in each slice, half slices of orange, small strips of candied orange peel, Maraschino cherries, rock sugar candy, lime or lemon drops, barley sugar, candied mint or rose leaves are all served with hot tea, according to taste. It is usually a good plan to arrange a small plate with a variety of these accompaniments and keep it on the tea tray.

Dainty Sandwiches.
Tea sandwiches must be simple—very thin slices of bread and butter folded together are the nicest, but savory or sweet fillings are popular. They must be small and dainty both as to fillings and shape. Perhaps the so-called ribbon and open faced sandwiches offer the most possibilities in the way of decoration and individuality.

For the former alternate slices of white and whole wheat bread, or use a number of slices of white bread alone, with fillings of different colors and blending flavors. For instance, cream cheese colored with vegetable colors, or several kinds of different colored and flavored jellies, or such foods as minced, pressed, chopped, peas, cream, minced olives, egg yolk, etc., may be spread between the layers of bread to give a multicolored effect. At least four slices of bread should be used in making each lot of sandwiches—more are even better.

WHAT a joy to serve real coffee—not a flat, insipid, substitute or devalued coffee—to evening guests and still be able to assure them they will not be disturbed or kept awake.

Nature's own Process neutralizes the acids and removes the main cause of "coffee wakefulness."

When coffee was shipped in slow, wooden sailing vessels, long storage in the moist, wooden holds caused a "culture" to form on the coffee. This culture caused it to become so thoroughly ripened there was no trace of gallic acid remaining in the coffee berry.

Coffee did not begin to disturb people until it was shipped in the fast, steel-hulled steamships. Then it had neither time nor the mellowing effect of wooden holds to free it from acids.

But today, science has discovered a method which

Duplicates this natural process

Right in the Forbes factory the same culture is "grown" on the coffee under conditions exactly like those in the holds of the old sailing vessels.

The result is a coffee not only free from all disturbing acids, but with the same rich "Old-time Java" flavor that was found in the old "ship-ripened" coffee.

Surprise your guests with Forbes Culture Ripened Coffee. If your grocer cannot supply you, phone MAin 3020 for a 6-cup sample, gratis.

SERVE A VEGETABLE PLATE MEAL DE LUXE

The Popularity of This Type of Meal Inspires New Combinations.

The popularity of vegetable plates is still growing and more and more housewives are searching for information as to the best combinations in vegetables and how to serve them. It takes rather skillful planning and preparation to make a mixture of vegetables really look and be appetizing and satisfying.

Those who say that they do not "like" vegetables have in all probability never eaten them properly cooked and seasoned.

It must be that restaurant cooks are becoming more adept in the cooking of vegetables because it is in these places that we note such a large increase in the amount of vegetable dinners that are eaten.

When planning vegetable dinners keep in mind the fact that seasoning and appearance play important parts in their success.

The flavor and texture of the vegetables selected are also important, of course, as it is often on these that the satisfying qualities of such a meal depend.

Each vegetable should be cooked separately and seasoned before serving. Hot plates must always be used for serving.

In arranging the vegetables on the plates, alternate the colors and keep to as attractive an arrangement as possible.

For example, a good "special" is made up of potato balls, buttered carrots, Swiss chard, broiled tomato slices, creamed kohlrabi and half a stuffed green pepper. The potato balls are cut with a regular vegetable cutter, boiled for ten minutes, seasoned with salt, white pepper, melted butter and sprinkled with minced parsley. They are then piled in the center of a hot plate and the other vegetables arranged around them in the following order: One or two slices of tomato, Swiss chard, kohlrabi, carrots, pepper.

Soupiness or wetness should be avoided in single dish vegetable meals.

When sauces are used they must be thick enough to cling to the vegetable they season.

Sometimes it is advisable to use mashed potato to separate or divide the vegetables one from the other. This can very attractively be done by the use of a pastry bag and a large tube.

Shredded cabbage in the form of coleslaw, asparagus tips or stalks of braised celery can be used to garnish the plate.

APPLE BOY PUDDING
IS A FAVORED SWEET
Stewed or raw apples can be used in this recipe for Apple Boy. Arrange sliced apples in a round baking dish, buttered. Sweeten and flavor with nutmeg or cinnamon. Cover with a batter made of:

One cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon brown sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, one egg yolk and milk.

Sift together the dry ingredients into a mixing bowl. Break the egg yolk into a cup and fill to the top with milk. Mix with a fork and stir into the dry ingredients.

Put dough on a floured board and pat into a round shape of even thickness, large enough to cover the top of the baking pan.

Bake for about a half hour, if raw apples are used; 20 minutes for stewed apples.

Serve with cream or a lemon sauce.

Tuna Luncheon Dish.
Mix one large can tuna with one cup white sauce and add six hard-cooked eggs, salt and pepper. Put in casserole, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake, uncovered, for 20 minutes.

ITALIAN CHOCOLATE ENJOYED BY CONTINENTAL VISITORS

These Are Authentic Directions for Preparing This Popular Beverage.

Stir the yolks of four eggs with a half pint of sugar and a half teaspoonful of cornstarch for 20 minutes until thick and well blended. Do not beat it, but stir steadily.

Grate a generous quarter of a cake of unswetened chocolate and add to it a pint of boiling water.

When melted, let it come to a hard boil for one minute, then pour it onto the eggs, holding the saucepan high and letting it run in steadily while stirring the eggs.

One egg white may be stirred with the yolks if desired. The other whites may be beaten stiffly with three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, then dropped onto a lightly buttered baking plate and browned in the oven. Then put the meringues on top of the chocolate and chill it.

Serve with whipped cream.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Housewives Will Do Well, Following a Holiday, to Serve Simple Foods.

Holidays are likely to be upsetting things in many ways, although they are enjoyed very thoroughly while they are in progress.

Upsetting of the regular routine of meals and activities almost always has its effect on the digestive system, for persons are likely to eat perhaps more well than wisely, especially on the great feasting days such as Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The wise housekeeper will see to it that meals for the day after Thanksgiving are quite simple and are made up of those foods which do not bear too direct a relation to those of the day before.

For that reason, in the menus planned for this week, the remnants of the turkey are put aside until Saturday, and Friday's meals have no touch of Thanksgiving except the dessert for dinner, which is a cranberry whip.

Where there are children in the family, there are especially likely to be touchy tempers on the day after a holiday. Simple, light and nourishing meals will do more to adjust the conditions than any amount of admonishing or correction.

For breakfast, a glass of well-chilled orange juice is about as good a tonic for that "day after" feeling as you could get.

Following that, an average serving of whole wheat cereal, piping hot, and a slice of toasted raisin bread or plain crisp toast will meet the body requirements and undoubtedly be an all sufficient meal.

At noon a raw vegetable or egg salad, a platter of crisp celery, which, by the way, is one of the best things for restoring a tired digestion, and a simple chocolate junket for dessert will balance that meal also.

Oysters, when they are properly cooked are readily digested and assimilated and scalloped oysters have enough body to them to make a satisfying meal, when served with a green vegetable such as peas or string beans or spinach. A crisp salad of raw shredded cabbage and green pepper will supply bulk and add much to the appetizing qualities of the meal because of its crispness.

Cranberry whip makes a good dessert as it appeals by its color, its tart flavor and its general fluffiness. Plain sponge cake served with it or used as a garnish for the whip dresses up the dessert and adds to the fuel value of the meal.

A hot oyster stew or creamed oysters or toast might well be substituted for the scalloped oysters and an apple and celery salad for the cabbage if preferred. Almost any gelatin dessert that does not contain whipped cream would be good to serve instead of the cranberry whip.

The main idea is to supply foods that have a decided appetite appeal, but at the same time do not put too great a tax on the digestive system.

If these rules are followed the family will come through the holiday period without having to suffer the few days of grumpiness and grumbling that almost always come in the wake of the period of over-eating.

PITTSBURG WINS EASTERN TITLE; COLGATE TAKES SECOND HONORS

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The mythical Eastern football championship has fallen into the hands of Pittsburgh's mighty Panther army with Colgate only a step behind.
With big Tom Parkinson as a battering ram, the Panthers crunched their way through a strong and battling Penn State line yesterday to win, 20-7, and wind up the regular season unbeaten and untied in nine games. While the Panthers were coming from behind to trounce the Nittany Lions from State College, a heavy and brainy Colgate eleven was giving Brown a terrific beating 22 to 0, to end the campaign with only one defeat on its record—only that by Wisconsin of the Western Conference in an early season game.
Standout Games.
So far as the records go, these two games were the standouts in an interesting and spectacular Thanksgiving day of football in which Penn surprised Cornell with a 17-7 win; Carnegie Tech ended the New York University jinx with a 20 to 0 victory, and Syracuse nosed out Columbia by a single touchdown, 6 to 0.
Penn State stopped Toby Unas, Pitt's all-America halfback candidate, dead but the Nittany Lions could not halt Parkinson's bull-like rushes. The big fullback scored all three of Pitt's touchdowns and kicked both of the extra points. A pass, French to Stahley, and a successful try for point gave Penn State a 7-6 lead which it held through the second period but Parkinson got busy in the second half and the game was won and lost.
Tommy Dowler and Les Hart, Colgate backfield stars, ran Brown dizzy and the Maroons won almost as they pleased, recording their first victory over Brown in ten years.

GRIFFITH TO MEET UZCUDUN IN HEAVYWEIGHT TEST BOUT TONIGHT

MATCH WITH SHARKEY IS AT STAKE IN CHICAGO FIGHT

By John E. Wray
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Whether Gerald Ambrose "Tuffy" Griffith is the man of destiny for whom the fight world has been waiting, or whether he is just another of a long line of bubbles, blown up by high wind-gauge managers, may be demonstrated at the first offering to be presented here tonight at the Chicago Stadium.
The fight, which was arranged under the regime of Paddy Harrison, depended on the $7,000,000 sports unit, involves the celebrated Paulino Uzcudun, as the party of the second part in the main event. It will be Gerald Ambrose's duty to throw more and heavier gloves into Paulino than Max Schmeling, on an earlier occasion this year, when the rugged Basque was all but separated from his intelligence by the German Jack Dempsey.
Senior Paulino, as party of the second part, will be in there to stop all the blows pitched at him and, absorbing them, come on to show whether Gerald Ambrose has any of the stuff in him that makes Dempsey's and Sullivan's.

Paulino Is Softer.
Once upon a time the task of overloading Paulino with high-voltage punches was considered impossible. But, within the last year or so, the hard egg has been considerably softened. The wear and tear of facing first the gigantic George Godfrey and next the clever and hardhitting Schmeling, has left the tough Spaniard much more pliable.
Still, if Tuffy can do what never yet has been done—knock out Paulino—he will be in line for the second—which, in his case, would be a chance at Jack Sharkey.
Gerald Ambrose has had rather a full fight history. According to Mr. Andrews' boxing guide which, like all things human, is subject to error, Tuffy is 22 years old. Slous City, his home town, first saw him in action as a preliminary boy in 1924 at the tender age of 17. He rode roughshod over all opponents for 24 preliminary and minor engagements, after which he was brought up to the big time in 1928. Then he began to stretch his opponents in win draws along the pugilistic highway. He beat some good men of the light-heavyweight division and it took him only one round to flatten Mike McGigue. He went steaming along through the last of light-heavyweights until he ran into the mighty right of Jimmy Braddock.
Curtains for Tuffy.
Tuffy Comes Back.
Also forgetfulness on the part of the public. For several months Tuffy languished outside the spotlight, apparently abandoned. His record was still further in question when, some months later, Tommy Loughran easily disposed of Braddock. Tommy himself was a mark for Jack Sharkey—all of which, on the comparative fight doping system, made Tuffy look like a soft-boiled pigeon-egg.
But Tuffy has been doing things lately. In fact, last year he steadily has come upward. His friends say he will not be the first kid to suffer a knockout and still come out to show the crowd stuff. For those who take records seriously here is what Tuffy has done for himself to date, this year:
Date. Opponent. Dec. 18, Feb. 4, Billy Fries. KO. 6.
Feb. 18, Leo Lomski. J.L. 10.
May 23, Al Friedman. W. 10.
June 27, Johnny Risko. WF. 7.
Aug. 6, Jack Murphy. K. 1.
Aug. 14, Sandy Siefert. KO. 1.
Aug. 29, Big Boy Peter. son. 6.
Sept. 12, Dr. Hayman. KO. 4.
Sept. 20, George Cook. KO. 4.
Oct. 21, Jack Stanley. KO. 2.
As far as building a national reputation as a heavyweight title contender goes, this performance is not amazing. Johnny Risko is a tough boy at all times. George Cook once was pretty good, but has been mauled into mush. Big Boy Peterson once outpointed Paulino, but what other second rate fighters have done to him is history—and not complimentary.
The only other good fighter in the list was Leo Lomski, a light-heavyweight, and he defeated Tuffy.

Knockout Is Needed.
Thus, whatever mention is to be made of Griffith, as a title factor of the future, depends to some extent on whether he can eliminate Paulino tonight and how decisively he is able to do it. As said before a quick knockout would gain instant attention from the promoters and fight fans. A dull, 10-round-point verdict would eliminate both.

Soldan High Defeated in Inter-City Football Game At Little Rock, 26 to 6

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 29.—The Soldan High School team of St. Louis lost to the Little Rock High School football team in yesterday's Thanksgiving day classic here, 26 to 6. Captain Dave Cook of Soldan was slow in getting started, but his spectacular charging for 59 yards and a touchdown during the final minutes of play showed the fans that he must be classed as one of the best high school players ever seen here. Cook made the lone score for the visitors in two plays on straight line plunges, charging through the Tiger line, reversing his field and then skirting around the second defense. His first play, a run for 21 yards, was unusually spectacular because he made it by recovering his own fumble. His attempt to kick goal failed and this was all the scoring for Soldan.

But this does not mean that Soldan did not fight, for it was pitted against a fast and hard fighting Little Rock team, and the Tigers were out to end their season with a good showing after a poor start. The running of Castleberry, Biddle and LaForge was spectacular. Soldan's Aerial Attacks Fail.
Little Rock made 20 first downs as compared with eight for Soldan. They attempted eight passes and completed three. Soldan tried the aerial attack several times without avail. Out of 14 attempted passes five were intercepted and two were completed.
The Tigers opened the game by kicking to Soldan, and after two kicks had gone outside it was declared Soldan's ball on the 40-yard line. After Haratt and Robinson failed to get through Little Rock line, Cook punted for 35 yards. LaForge received the punt and Vaniko stepped him on the next play and was taken out. Bealer coming in, the Tigers then opened their attack and started a steady march down the field, taking the ball to the goal line, where Soldan held. Captain Cook kicked out of danger. Little Rock's pass was intercepted by Jones, but Soldan was again unable to gain and kicked. The ball remained in the center of the field until the end of the quarter, but when the second period started, the Tigers started another attack which took the ball over. Biddle and LaForge charged through the visitors' tackles for short gains. Biddle passed to Smith for 16 yards, and in four more plays the ball was over. Withee missed the goal.
Little Rock continued its barrage of straight football. LaForge soon making another touchdown after five first downs were made by the Tigers. Castleberry ran through the entire Soldan team for one 31-yard gain before LaForge carried the ball over. Klieh missed the goal.
Harland Makes Good Pass.
The final score of the second quarter came with a 60-yard pass. Harland to Troy Klieh, who went over the goal line. His brother, failed to get through Little Rock line, the half ended 19 to 0.
The Black and Gold came back stronger at the start of the second half. Both teams started with their original lineups with the exception of Butts of Soldan who took Hall's place at end, and much of the credit for holding the a gate in excess of $75,000 is anticipated by stadium officials.

Another plant of foreign heavy-credit above the ordinary. Salvatore Ruggirello, giant Italian, and Hein Mueller, a German, making his American debut, are down for the 10-round semitinal.

FRESCHI STARS AND WEBSTER IS 14-0 WINNER

With Freschi as the special star of the game, Webster Groves yesterday defeated Kirkwood, 14-0. It was the tenth successive victory for Webster over its Thanksgiving day rival. All the scoring came in the second period when Freschi went over for two touchdowns and, in each case, converted the extra point.
There was little to the first period but kicking and Freschi was able to keep the ball in Kirkwood territory almost constantly. There was no scoring until the second period when Webster's attack began to function nicely. Freschi got away with runs of 60 and 70 yards. After they had been scored on twice, Kirkwood began to show a real defense and though unable to score themselves prevented Webster from adding to its total.
Kirkwood once held Webster on its own five-yard line and when the final whistle of the game sounded Webster had the ball six inches away from the Kirkwood line.
The lineups:
WEBSTER GROVES: Quarterback, Freschi; Running back, Webster; Fullback, Webster; Halfback, Webster; End, Webster; Tackle, Webster; Guard, Webster; Center, Webster; Linebacker, Webster; Defensive back, Webster; Punter, Webster.
KIRKWOOD: Quarterback, Kirkwood; Running back, Kirkwood; Fullback, Kirkwood; Halfback, Kirkwood; End, Kirkwood; Tackle, Kirkwood; Guard, Kirkwood; Center, Kirkwood; Linebacker, Kirkwood; Defensive back, Kirkwood; Punter, Kirkwood.

Edwardsville And Granite City Play 6-6 Tie

The Edwardsville and Granite City High School football teams battled to a 6-6 tie yesterday on a snow-covered Edwardsville gridiron. The game brought to a close the southwestern Illinois conference season for both eleven.
The snow resulted in frequent fumbles for both teams, neither squad displaying the same power that it showed during the conference season. Both of the scores came during the last three minutes of play, Edwardsville scoring first, and Granite City immediately following. Both of the counters were caused by breaks.
Until the latter part of the fourth quarter, the game was even. The fourth quarter was three-fourths over, and the fans were predicting a scoreless tie, when the Tigers' break came. The ball was on Granite City's 25-yard line, and Capt. Parker called for a punt, but Rich at center made his first bad pass of the afternoon, and Parker was forced to fall on the play. Black's 15-yard line, and Parker called for a punt. But the line failed to hold, and the punt was blocked on Granite City's 10-yard line. Judd, Edwardsville quarter-back, then smashed his way through the Granite City line in three downs for the score. A pass for the extra point was unsuccessful.
Edwardsville kicked off to Granite City, who returned it to their own 40-yard strip. On the next play, Rich threw a pass to Parker, who caught it after two Edwardsville backs had tipped it, and raced 30 yards for Granite City's score. Parker attempted to skirt end for the extra point, but was nailed a yard from the goal. The game ended a minute later.

Notre Dame Eleven Should Defeat Army Team in Game Tomorrow, Rockne Believes

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 29.—What is the origin of the system of football as we now use it at Notre Dame and as quite a few of the Notre Dame Alumni used it in various parts of the country? The system has, of course, been influenced from many sources, particularly as regards blocking, tackling and the execution of the other fundamentals. But the flavor, the peculiar twist which differentiates it from other methods comes from A. A. Stagg, Yale alumnus, who is coaching at the University of Chicago.
We were on our way back from the Yale debacle of 1914, Yale having beaten Notre Dame, 28 to 0, when Harper called me into his Pullman drawing room. I was his assistant that fall. He announced that we had to break into something new, something different in the way of offense or the year would be a failure. He began drawing marks on a piece of paper, describing a backfield shift similar to what Chicago had used in the old days when he was sub-quarterback for Stagg. Harper's variation was that he made the shift cover twice as much territory. I added the idea of shifting the ends in and out with a stationary line. Harper wanted the line to shift also, but after a day or two of experimenting the line from tackle to tackle was left stationary. This simple shift was the beginning of what is now known as the Notre Dame offense. Harper also had some original ideas on the forward pass which were to prove far reaching.
It has, of course, evolved a long way since that time and many Notre Dame men out coaching have added embellishments of their own. Most of the sound fundamentals which Harper found at Notre Dame when he came here were probably inherited from the days when Harry Drown was coaching.
Systems Are a Mixture.
But systems of football, like nationalities, are all somewhat of a mixture, though one of the most interesting things about the game today is the fact that there are many different adverse conceptions of offense, many of them successful. It is this which adds the variety and spice to our fine autumn sport.
Jimmy Phelan of Purdue is, of course, the man of the hour in the Big Ten, and he should be. He deserves every bit of credit, along with his assistants, for the fine achievement which the gallant Boilermaker aggregation turned in this fall. Their victories were so clean-cut, decisive and merited that no one questions but what they are by right the best team in the conference. However, to my mind the outstanding coach in the Big Ten this fall was Prof. Stagg at Chicago. Starting out with practically no prospects, with no material of experience, he defeated, among other teams, Indiana, the University of Washington and Princeton. Scouts tell me that his attack is very clever and as well conceived as any in the game. Stagg is, I believe, almost 65 years of age. Anyone who knows the grand old gentleman is more than delighted at the successful season which he has just finished.
Some Rockne Picks.
Notre Dame should win from the Army but you never can tell about Chris Cagle and the Army team. Of recent years the Army has always won when they were the underdog, and that they are going to be T. N. T. this Saturday goes without saying. Notre Dame will have to be on its toes every minute all afternoon or Chris Cagle and his companions will label it another Army upset.
It looks like Dartmouth should take the Navy at Philadelphia, but this Navy team has the disconcerting habit of playing a whale of a game this time of the year and I would not be surprised if the Midlands took the big Green team from Hanover.
The Georgetown-Detroit battle in Detroit looks like an even up game with very little to choose between either team. If it should be a wet sloppy field Mooney's kicking should be a deciding factor in favor of Georgetown.

RICHTER SHOOT
77 IN COAST
GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 29.—
John "Benny" Rouse, 22-year-old pro of the Briar Gate Club of Chicago, toured the Berkeley Country Club course yesterday in 68 to lead the field in the first round of the "Shole Berkeley $5000 open championship.

The youth's round, completed in two under par, was also two strokes lower than the cards turned in by his nearest rivals—John Black, California Country Club,
San Francisco; Dewey Longworth, Claremont Country Club, Berkeley, and Chet Beer, Stockdale Country Club, Bakersfield. The trio turned in 70.

Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., favorite, was forced to take a 74, while Tommy Armour, former national open titleholder, fell back to the 17 class. Abe Espinosa of Chicago had a 71 for his opening round. Ben Richter of the Triple A Club of St. Louis was tied with Armour and John Dawson with a 77.

Eighteen holes will be played today, with the 36-hole finals on Saturday.

Leading scores:
John Rouse, Chicago, 71.
John Black, San Francisco, 70.
Chet Beer, Bakersfield, Cal., 70.
Dewey Longworth, Berkeley, Cal., 70.

SNOWSTORM CURTAILS
THANKSGIVING DAY
ATHLETIC PROGRAM

Yesterday's heavy snowfall curtailed the postponement of all of the local high school football games except those between Webster Groves and Kirkwood at Kirkwood, Wellston at Normandy and Missouri
M. A. at St. Charles. The Professional Soccer League games at Sportsman's Park also were postponed.

A list of the postponed events follows:
Belleville at East St. Louis.
Vashon vs. Summer at the Public Schools Stadium.
Hillgraves vs. Millers soccer team and Tahlers vs. Madsons at Sportsman's Park.
The Belleville-East St. Louis game for the championship of the Southwestern Illinois High School Conference will be played tomorrow.

COLGATE WINS FIRST VICTORY IN 10 YEARS
OVER BROWN, 32 TO 0

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 29.—
Colgate won its first football victory over Brown in 10 years here yesterday when Andy Kerr's husky and fleet ball carriers ripped through the battered Bruins for a 32 to 0 score.

The Maroon backs, protected by exceptional linemen, dashed off tackle and circled the ends almost at will. Many times during the conflict, Tommy Dowler, one of the East's highest scorers, and Les Hart, Kerr's triple-threat, made long gains.

NORTH CAROLINA WINS
FROM VIRGINIA, 41-7

By the Associated Press.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 29.—
The University of North Carolina smashed its way to a 41 to 7 victory over the University of Virginia here yesterday afternoon. It was the largest margin of victory by which the Tar Heels have defeated the Cavaliers in the 34 years of rivalry between the schools.

Champion Purdue Eleven Places Three Men on Coaches' All-Star Team

By Charles Dunkley
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Russell Berghem, Northwestern's work-horse backfield star, is placed at fullback on the 1929 All-Western Conference football team, picked for the Associated Press by nine Big Ten coaches; and to place him there, the coaches elected to switch Bronko Nagurski, one of Minnesota's greatest stars, from fullback to tackle.

The first team, as selected, follows:
Wesley Foster, Ohio State, left end.
Bronko Nagurski, Minnesota, left tackle.
Fred Roberts, Iowa, left guard.
Milton Erickson, Northwestern, center.
Henry Anderson, Northwestern, right guard.
Elmer Slight, Purdue, right tackle.
Robert Tanner, Minnesota, right end.
Glenn Harneson, Purdue, quarterback.
Willie Glasgow, Iowa, left halfback.
Ralph Welch, Purdue, right halfback.
Russell Berghem, Northwestern, fullback.

Second team—Eddie Baker, Northwestern, and Volgaist, Illinois; tackle, Glendon, Illinois, and Westra, Iowa, guards.
Foe, Michigan, and Parks, Wisconsin, center, Kaval, Illinois; quarterback, Holman, Ohio State; half-backs, Plummer, Minnesota, and Hal Rehbock, Wisconsin; fullback, Gensie, Michigan.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, 67-year-old coach of the University of Chicago eleven, adhered to his policy of not naming players for "all-teams" saying that he felt qualified only to select a team from the squad with which he worked each during the season.

Berghem, a tall, powerful player, was the key man in Northwestern's offensive scheme, doing the punting, passing and a great share of the running. Coach Dick Hanley probably would have had a difficult time without him, following the injury which took Hank Bruder from the squad.

Bruder had done the punting and passing, but Berghem stepped into the breach and handled both jobs so well as to be largely responsible for Northwestern's victories over Illinois and Ohio State.
Harneson at Quarter.

Glenn Harneson, one of the four Riveters who played a big part in giving Purdue its first Big Ten title, was named as a reserve player.

Tanner dominated the ends in defensive play, and was a sure pass receiver. He was fast down under kicks and his deadly tackling kept opposing backs away from his side of the line. Although handicapped by an uncertain ankle all season, Tanner never failed to turn in a better than good performance.

Shifted about to patch up holes in a team that lacked reserve power to make it great, Nagurski stood out, with Elmer "Red" Slight of Purdue, as the pick of a number of fine tackles. Possessed of tremendous power and deadly tackling ability, Nagurski played a great game at tackle, and found time to drop back to fullback to score a pair of touchdowns that gave Minnesota victory over Wisconsin. He was the fastest man on the Gopher squad, and Coach Spears characterized him as a player who rarely made a mistake in judgment, either as a back or a lineman.

Slight played clever football in the Purdue line, keeping his feet well, and seldom being caught out of position. His speed and power made him a misery to opposing punters who found many of their attempts blocked by the hard-charging Bollermaker star.

Fred Roberts and Capt. Henry Anderson of Northwestern received the guard assignments over a powerful field. Roberts was not the biggest lineman in the league, but he looked it in action. He was the best balanced guard in the Big Ten, according to the coaches, being equally capable on offense and defense. His tackling and judgment were far above par.

A Hard Charger.
Anderson was a bulldog type who charged hard and certainly and was fast enough to fit in well in interference. He tackled well and was a fine blocker when called out to run ahead of Berghem and the other Northwestern backs.

The place at center was a tight battle between Mickey Erickson of Northwestern, and Ed Kaval of Illinois. Erickson received the verdict by one vote, chiefly due to his great work against Illinois. He was a smart defensive player, calling enemy formations for his mates, and in four important forward passes at critical moments. Bonawitchee, Michigan, and Barrett of Ohio State were ranked close to the two leaders.

WESTMINSTER JAYS HELD TO 6-6 TIE BY WILLIAM JEWELL TEAM

By the Associated Press.

LIBERTY, Mo., Nov. 29.—Railing in the second half, William Jewell confounded the football dopesters here yesterday in battling Westminster to a 6 to 6 tie.

Early in the game Westminster blocked a punt and scored a touchdown. William Jewell tied the score in the third period on a forward pass. B. Carmichael, a substitute back, to Spradley over the goal line.

JIM CORBETT AND NEIL O'BRIEN ON VAUDEVILLE BILL HERE

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight boxing champion, who took up a stage career after losing the crown to Bob Fitzsimmons, is still in vaudeville. This year Jim is in a partnership with Neil O'Brien, the famous minstrel star, and they will appear on the bill at the St.
Louis Theater starting Saturday.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 29.—The flying and elusive feet of Russell Dills, 145-pound University of Missouri quarterback, coupled with a pair of carefully planned "scoring plays" by Coach Edwin Henry, yesterday wrote a victorious record into the Tiger 1929 gridiron finale as the Missourians swept through to a 13 to 0 conquest over the Oklahoma Sooners.

The victory gave the Tigers an undisputed runner-up position in the Big Six conference, with Nebraska romping over Iowa State at Lincoln in the only other conference, a set-to, the games dropping the Sooners into fourth place, while the Kansas Aggies, by remaining idle so far as conference play was concerned, moved into third.

Throughout the first two periods
the game had a decidedly Oklahoma tinge, but on the first play in the third quarter Dills counted a touchdown that put Missouri into a lead that was often challenged but never passed. Standing on his own seven-yard line the diminutive Tiger received the kickoff from Tom Churchill, Sooner end, and set forth on his slithering trip down the gridiron that ended behind the Oklahoma goal line.

With 90 of the 97 yards necessary to gain the Sooner goal stripe was the combination which produced the second Missouri touchdown early in the final period.

Two passes by Waldorf, one to Dills for six yards and one to Hursley for 13 combined with a 14-yard smash by Lee Louis Derry gave the Missourians a scoring position on the Oklahoma 13-yard line. Dills added two yards at the line and Derry chipped in with four more.
Trick Nets Touchdown.
Then came a superb bit of Coach Henry's strategy, planned all this week. With the ball on the 7-yard line, Missouri went into a place kick formation with the ever-sensational little Dills holding the ball for Schaff to kick. Instead of doing the expected, Dills, pausing a moment as if waiting for Schaff to send the ball on its journey to the goal posts, gathered the oval into his arms and raced around Oklahoma's bewildered left end, who had rushed in to stop a kick.
It was the identical play which the Tigers used in scoring an extra point against Kansas last Saturday.
In the third quarter Dills came near equalling his first feat in that period. The midday Tiger, playing in a safety position, took a punt from "Buster" Mills and sprinted his way to the Oklahoma 11-yard line for a 44-yard run.
Derry, in three line plunges, gave Missouri a position on the Sooner 17-yard marker, but a dropkick by Dills went awry.

Wet Shoes.
Don't put stiff shoe trees into the very wet shoes, but fill them with crushed newspaper. The paper will absorb the moisture and help the shoes to retain their shape. Trees are apt to stretch the leather and cause the shoes to dry stiff.

A Piece of Her Mind

By Elsie McCormick.

PSYCHOANALYSIS

BETWEEN intervals of pounding the typewriter and looking for some fall clothes that were not designed by the Marquis de Sade I have been giving a little impersonal attention to psychoanalysis. At least, my casual bowing acquaintance with the subject has renewed through meeting several people distinguished in this field.

Among the saddest revelations stands the fact that psychoanalysis is not the madcap, roguish thing it used to be. The mind is no longer made up of a number of bad little impulses playing ring-around-the-rosie about a central libido. Dr. Freud in the ripeness of his age has somehow discovered the higher self.

Dr. Fritz Wittels of Vienna told me just the other day that the Freudians had formerly put too much emphasis on the lower self, and that it now has a "super ego" sitting above the various sins. Perhaps it is not right to say that the discovery is a recent one, for the "super ego," on close examination, turns out to be the censor promoted to a higher sphere.

Instead of regarding the mind as a mere busybody of the self, the Freudians have identified it with the old-fashioned conscience and given it an honored place in the penthouse of the mental structure. To those who knew the science in its less inhibited days this is quite a bit of a shock.

Dr. Freud and his followers do not, of course, believe that the voice of conscience has any long wavelength connection with the heavenly hierarchy. When a child is small his commands come from the outside. Around the age of six or so he absorbs the voices, and the conscience after that to speak in his own thoughts.

Conscience to the Freudians is a photograph record of the admonitions of father, mother and teachers played in the deep recesses of the human mind. Since receiving the name of "super ego" it has been treated with respect in the laboratories of Vienna.

This theory, of course, is made rather complex by the fact that some of the people who heard very loud and strict voices in their youth have since acquired far fewer from too much wandering on the prime-time path.

Though the psychoanalysts have solved many problems, they don't seem to have discovered how to get along with each other. Quite a long time ago I learned that if you extend a graceful tribute to somebody else in the movement the psychoanalyst to whom you are talking usually looks as pained as if he had just swallowed a rivet.

"I'M ALWAYS The VILLAIN"

By Noah Beery

Film Star Tells How He Makes Hosts of Friends by Playing Characters Audiences Detest

ONE winter evening some 20-odd years ago, the curtain descended in the old Gillis Theater at Fifth and Walnut streets, Kansas City, for the end of the first act of "The Great Chicago Fire." The Gillis, just across the street from the city market, was the heart and bone and sinew of "thrillers." If your blood wouldn't curdle at the hair-raising tales unfolded there, something must be wrong with its composition. It needed stimulating.

As the patrons settled back in their seats that night, I strode to the head of an aisle. "La-d-e-e-s and g-e-n-t-l-m-e-n!" I began. "During this moment of intermission I wish to call your attention to these packages of delicious lemon drops—the last word in confections, the product of a master hand, the ultra of all ultras in candy manufacture. No lemon drops ever were like them. Taste them once and the palate calls for more. Everyone likes Noah's Delicious Lemon Drops, put up in neat packages to be sold for the small sum of a nickel—5 cents. This is just to advertise the brand. I shall pass through the audience handing out a few boxes for the small price mentioned. Don't rush; take your time; just hold up your hands and pass the nickels forward. Who's next now? Thank you—and you—and you. Ah, ladies and gentlemen, you know what's good!"

The fact that I had a wooden bucketful of Noah's Delicious Lemon Drops at home, and a candy manufacturer where I bought them had tons more on order, was my source of inspiration. So I let my voice go boom—give 'em both barrels. I paid $10 a week for the lemon drop privilege.

A CORNER of the drop curtain was pulled aside on this particular evening and Ned Risley, star of the rip-roarin' melodrama, thrust forth his head to see what was happening. That voice of mine was shaking things up—and selling the confections. Risley sent for me backstage.

"Young man," he said, "where did you get it?" "At the wholesale house," I replied. "It's good, isn't it?" "I don't mean your lemon drops. I mean that foghorn you've been blowing out there—that thing you rattle the windows with." It wasn't long before he was telling me I should train that voice for singing. A little later Adolph Mayer made the same suggestion. And then came others. Now I fairly can say, "At that I am, all that I ever hope to be. I owe to my little lemon drops." Because they really were what started me toward the stage. A season of singing at Electric Park in Kansas City, a winter at Hammerstein's Roof in New York, then six years with William A. Brady, during which I matriculated to dramatic work and became the villain of the shows.

I entered the movies about 1909. Since then I have played something like 200 villainous roles, everything logical problems that constitute the general human burden, Americans have some special ones of their own. Despite our apparent desire to conform, Dr. Wittels says that we are charged with a peculiar reverence for eccentricity. No poet or artist is considered interesting by the mass unless he at least insults his hostess and puts his feet on the furniture.

"The Greeks used to think that the mentally abnormal spoke with the voices of the gods; Americans believe that they speak with the voice of genius," remarked the Herr Doctor.

When an American comes to an impasse in his life he cheerfully has a "nervous breakdown" and is carted off to a sanitarium. Then, after a few months of butterfly chasing, he returns to his own circle and finds that the experience has made him a more unique figure in the community.

From a child-beater to a hard-boiled Army Sergeant and a renegade. Whenever a particularly hateful character is to be featured in a play, either myself or my brother Wallace is called.

Do I weary of playing vicious and wicked roles? I love it! Just two reasons caused me to decide to become a villain. The roles offer greater scope for dramatic acting, and—the pay is higher. That's the whole thing in a nutshell.

I have no desire to be the clean-shaven hero. Such characterizations usually are too unreal. They don't ring true. But if you will go back over my plays and pictures, you will find that I managed to leave the impression that, after all, there was something of a man in each villain part I acted. That is, in all save one. That was the role of the guard in "The Goddess Girl." he who beat and tortured boys and girls in a reformatory. I did not want to play that part, and I heard from it indirectly many times thereafter. My admirers did not like it. I did not like it. But Cecil De Mille, who produced the picture, insisted that I play it. My theory is that there is some good in every man, unless he be a lunatic. But there was no good in that penal guard. The best thing to be said about him was that he burned to death (ostensibly) in the fire that destroyed the institution.

After I played the part of Disma in "Wanderer of the Wasteland," a depiction of old miners came in from the desert to confide to me that they had found valuable deposits away out in those silent stretches. They said they believed they could trust me, that they had been afraid to tell any one where their treasure lay for fear that their claims would be stolen.

ON the strength of their showing I looked over some of their properties and found their assertions true. Promptly I organized a company and incorporated it for $1,500,000. Today we are operating mines on the Mojave Desert, taking out a virgin mineral soap which requires no process of manufacturing. There is only one other mine like it in all the world. I, the villain, made custodian of these miners' most carefully guarded secrets! Seems strange, doesn't it?

My most beloved characterization was that of Sgt. Lejaune of the Foreign Legion in "Beau Geste." It showed that although this man appeared to be a cold-blooded, ruthless, vicious brute, he was a man's man at heart, loyal and true as steel. I loved him.

Back of all this make-believe of a household hint. One householder becomes exasperated after several futile attempts to put a screw into plaster and wall finally buries a hole in the wall slightly larger than the screw. He filled this with plaster paris and inserted the screw before the plaster dried. In a few minutes the screw was firmly set. A nail can be put in a wall by the same method.

"I don't ever expect to be cast in the role of the hero who rescues the girl from the railroad tracks. I'll always be tying her there."

the stage and screen, however, the man who plays the role of villain continuously suffers. If he puts his heart into his work, he can't throw off his characterizations promptly and at will. They linger hours, sometimes days, in his mind. I have a beautiful home in Hollywood, surrounded by a lawn set with flowers. The house is modern, and the place worth possibly $125,000. Yet I live in a shack in a pasture with my dogs and horses. Alone!

Sometimes at night I look out across those acres bathed in moonlight, old Sgt. Lejaune stalks through my memory. The brute guard of the reformatory comes back to mock me. The whip wielder who curled the lash about the bodies of lost men in "Noah's Ark" grins derisively at my isolation. The old miner of "Wanderer of the Wasteland" looks sadly at me as he harnesses himself opposite his burro and moves away as a beast of burden.

Thoughts! Memories! Recollections! I live and breathe and dream in my sleep, sometimes, those old stories. Some have said that at times I brought traces of their misery into my home. I wonder—could it be true? If so, the reaction from my characterizations has brought to me one of the greatest tragedies of my life.

I HAVE been married 21 years. A son, the only one of three children, a sturdy, upright young fellow, is living. I have him in school. But differences have arisen—differences which I cannot discuss—and my world seems all wrong. I have just signed a picture contract with Warner Brothers which will net me a third of a million dollars in two years. Yet, I'm like Theodora Dreiser when he was paid $50,000 for the movie right to one of his novels—"What can I do with it now?"

Producers tell me that my voice is the deepest and clearest basso profundo ever recorded. I sing one song in my present picture, "Golden Dawn," with Alice Gentle and Vivian Segal. In the next there will be four. My greatest ambition is to play the title part of "Emperor Jones" and I am pleading for it now.

Friends and my boy offer me most in life just now. Two hours' ride in the mountains north of Los Angeles I have established a trout club which I call Noah Beery's Paradise. To it come thousands each year, where I greet them. If they disliked the Noah Beery of the screen they would not make that drive to talk to Noah Beery in person.

I suppose I'll always be playing the heavy in pictures. It has become a sort of second nature for the screen. The talkies have opened up a new field for my voice—that voice which Ned Risley 35 years ago likened to a foghorn when I was selling lemon drops.

I don't ever expect to be cast in the role of the hero who rescues the girl from the railroad tracks.

Fabrics for Bags
The mode in bags for spring and the resort season has turned in favor of fabrics—felt, embroidered silk, straw, tweeds, linens and other varying materials. Red, brilliant blues, bright yellows, green and the dahlia, to orchid tones will vie with the more subtle pastels. And, of course, shoes and bags will in themselves complete ensembles.

Dainty and Economical
It is nice to remove the pulp of grapefruit the evening before using and place in the refrigerator over night. Sugar it before putting it away. Serve in short glasses the next morning for breakfast. This is very attractive for the house guest and is also economical, as one large grapefruit will serve three or four persons.

in Parker Duofold Matched Pens and Pencils

Obtainable only in Parker Pens and Pencils is this beautiful, symmetrical Streamline shape; also a Pocket Cap and Clip with every Desk Set Pen—was extra—now free. This combination makes 3 pens of one—for Pocket and for Desk.

Parker originated this double-duty feature—no other pen is convertible. Screwing on a tapered end transforms it to a Desk Pen. Removing the taper restores it to a Pocket Pen.

Thus those who give Parker Desk Sets will give a Pocket Duofold, too; and those who give Parker Pocket Pens alone (without desk bases) will be giving also half of a Desk Set. To have a desk set later their loved one will not have to buy an extra pen. A base will be enough.

No other pens and pencils set so low or look so neat in the pocket as Parker's new Streamline Duofold with a clip that starts—not halfway down the cap—but at the tip!

Pressureless Point, Jewel-color Permanent Barre (2% lighter than rubber, yet non-breakable) 24% greater ink capacity than average also for size, and "guaranteed forever against all defects."

TAX ON INSURANCE PREMIUMS IS PLAN OF SURVEY BOARD

Commission to Wind Up Work in Search of $200,000,000 Revenue for 10 Years Tonight.

WILL MAKE REPORT TO GOV. CAULFIELD

Proposals to Obtain $150,000,000 More for State Institutions Already Decided On.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28.—The State Survey Commission, which yesterday approved plans for progressive reforms in the State educational system and for the winding up of the State-educational institutions to provide modern scientific service, today entered on the last stage of its work. After approving suggestions for improvements at the State University and the State teachers' colleges, the commission will before night lay out a system of increased taxes which, if adopted by the Legislature, will make possible the progress which has been the aim of Gov. Caulfield and the commission.

It is virtually certain that the commission will not find sources of revenue for the entire program, but will leave to the Legislature in the closing years of the decon- period covered by the recom- mendations, to provide for a part. The total amount required to meet the recommendations for the 10- period will be about $200,000,000. The commission will sug- gest ways to get from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 of this amount.

Sharp increases in the income tax, a doubling of the corporation franchise tax, a slight increase in the State property tax and a tax of two and one-half per cent on all insurance premiums collected in the State will be the principal sources which the commission will recommend. While the State for many years has had a tax of two per cent on foreign insurance com- pany premiums it never has taxed "insured" companies. It is now proposed to increase the foreign tax half per cent, and to place a per cent tax on the premiums "insured" companies, including reciprocal companies, which practically nothing to the State taxes. It is estimated that ap- proximately $5,000,000 will be col- lected by the insurance tax, which will be an increase of nearly $2,000,000 over the revenue now de- rived from that source.

Two Problems Settled. In its proceedings yesterday the commission settled two of the big problems before it, that of its recommendations to the Governor for legislation on the public schools system and on the elementary institutions. In schools the report of Repre- sentative Jones of Dunklin Coun- ty and Fred Neeter, Cape Girar- deau publisher, was adopted with only minor changes. This provides for a complete change in the system of rural education, the aim being to build the country schools to a minimum standard which will compare favorably with the stand- ard of city schools.

Under the plan proposed every school district in the State will levy a school tax of 20 cents on the $100 valuation, and the State will pro- vide sufficient revenue to bring the amount raised by this taxation up to an amount sufficient to pro- vide $900 a year for each teacher of elementary schools and $1200 a year for each teacher unit of high schools.

This means that every school dis- trict in the State will have at least $900. In elementary schools a teacher unit is 23 pupils and in a high school 24 pupils, but in some rural elementary schools which have only five pupils or the high school which has only 12 will be a teacher unit and receive the State aid. A school which goes beyond this minimum standard will receive ad- ditional aid, it being the ultimate aim to provide State aid up to $1200 a year for each teacher unit.
